English Not Worried Over Naval Threat

Superiority of British Fleet Too Much For Germany

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, April 1—British naval authorities smiled disdainfully tonight at Adolf Hitler's threat to denounce the British-Gemran naval treaty and there was no indication he had swerved Britain from her joint pledge with France to defend Polish independence.

High naval experts pointed out not only that Britain had tremendous superiority over Germany in naval power but also that the combined British-French fleets were stronger than the combined German-Italian fleets by a margin of more than two to one.

Hitler's retort at Wilhelmshaven, Germany, to Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement yesterday in the house of commons of British-French guarantees to Poland came as British diplomats tried to map a new armed strategy to meet German strength with her own.

Britain reassured Poland of the breadth of her pledge and sought to rally Rumania, another German neighbor in the path of possible Nazi expansion, to similar solidarity with the Anglo-French front as a second step toward building a wide "Halt Hitler" bloc in Europe.

Important Visit

The visit Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck is expected to make here Monday assumed even greater importance after the reichsfuehrer's implied threat to Poland.

Foremost problem to be discussed, it was believed, will be the status of the Free City of Danzig, territory taken from Germany after the World war to give Poland an outlet to the Baltic at the head of the Polish Corridor.

Poland was understood to be willing to substitute for theoretical league of nations control a German-Polish joint rule over the free city but not to renounce her rights in it.

Poland also was understood to want a loan from Britain and emigration facilities for Jews she may want to emigrate.

In return, it was believed Poland would reciprocate Britain's defense pledge, making Chamberlain's declaration a two-sided British-Polish military alliance.

British Naval View

An indication of the British view on the naval treaty with Germany was given in the House of Commons ten days ago by Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger

Broadcast On Crime By Stark

JEFFERSON CITY, April 1—(AP)—A tense capital tonight awaited Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's Sunday radio speech on "the crime situation"—and wondered if it meant the kickoff for another personal stumping tour against the Kansas City Democratic organization.

The governor said he had no plans beyond tomorrow's radio speech (12:30 p. m.), but observers recalled his "no stumping" statement last summer which was followed almost immediately by a tour of the entire state in a campaign against the Boss Tom Pendergast forces for supporting a supreme court candidate.

Stark was absent from his office today and associates declined to hint at the scope of tomorrow's speech. But the governor himself made it clear he would level his sights once more at the Pendergast organization — probably striking again through the police department.

Be On Four Stations

JEFFERSON CITY, April 1—(AP)—The air waves will carry Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's speech on "crime situation" to every part of Missouri and into states adjoining tomorrow.

Four radio stations have arranged to broadcast the address, starting at 12:30 p. m. They are KFRU, Columbia, where the governor will speak, WDAF, Kansas City, and KSD and KXOK in St. Louis.

Prisoner Sets Fire To His Bed

Tom Carroll, a transient, lodged in the county jail for thirty days on a charge of petit larceny, but for the past several days held in the woman's department of the jail, set fire to his bed about 12 o'clock Saturday night and caused a run by the fire companies.

When the fire companies arrived the fire had gained considerable headway and started burning a window sash on the west wall.

Carroll, held under observation, was lodged in a cell after the fire.

Holy Week In City's Churches

The observance of Holy Week begins today in many of the churches in Sedalia. Special services for Palm Sunday will be held, with music and appropriate decorations in most of the Protestant churches. In the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches the blessing and distribution of palms will be included.

During the week many special services will be held. Some churches are holding daily services in commemoration of the last days of Christ's life before his crucifixion on Good Friday. Several revivals will be climaxed during the week.

Good Friday the members of the Ministerial Alliance will cooperate as usual in the commemoration of the three hours that Christ hung on the cross. Beginning at noon and continuing until 3 p. m., this service at Calvary Episcopal church will be addressed by seven of the ministers, with prayers, hymns, and meditative silences interspersed.

The Ministerial Alliance is also sponsoring addresses at the public schools during the week, emphasizing the religious character of the week. Those who will speak at the various schools are: Rev. R. W. Leazer, Mark Twain school; Rev. R. A. Park, Horace Mann; Rev. R. A. Waggoner, Broadway; Rev. W. P. Arnold, Whittier; Rev. H. J. Hains, Jefferson; Rev. A. W. Kokendoffer, Washington; Rev. J. C. English, Lincoln; Rev. R. E. Hurd, Smith-Cotton high school; Rev. Q. R. Wright will speak at the Missouri-Pacific shops; Rev. O. J. Rumpf at Lamy Manufacturing company, and Rev. P. L. Miller at the W. P. A. sewing room.

Details of the program of individual churches are being published in separate notices. The order of preachers for the union Good Friday service will be published at a later date.

Pilgrims Begin Trips To Rome For Holy Week

Interest In New Pope To Increase The Tourists

VATICAN CITY, April 1—(AP)—Pilgrims began flocking into Rome today for elaborate holy week ceremonies which will open tomorrow with the traditional blessing of the palms.

Despite unsettled European conditions, interest in the new Pope apparently has swelled the number of tourists attracted this year. Many hotels reported all rooms engaged weeks ago.

The mass at St. Peter's tomorrow will be celebrated by Federigo Cardinal Tedeschini.

In many years when Pope Pius XII was archpriest of St. Peter's he celebrated the high mass there each Sunday and was the principal figure in the procession of the palms commemorating Christ's entry into Jerusalem.

This year, as Pope, he will celebrate Palm Sunday mass quietly in his chapel, but will participate in the long ceremonies of the passion later in the week.

Next Sunday he will assume his throne in St. Peter's for the magnificient Easter mass and, at its closing, will give his blessing "urbi et orbi"—to the city and to the world—from the balcony of the Basilica.

An enormous crowd, possibly running to 250,000, is expected to be in the square before St. Peter's to receive the blessing.

Picturesque ceremonies will be held in many parts of Italy duriny holy week.

At Anticoli Corrado a coffin will be carried through the streets on Good Friday in a procession the villagers have reenacted for hundreds of years.

On the same day, Francavilla, in Sicily, will hold its traditional procession in which no less than ten villagers play the role of Christ for he is depicted in that many stages of his trip to Calvary. An 80-year-old resident who has played Caiphas, the high priest, in the annual pageant since 1882 hopes to do so again this year for the 58th time.

The end of Lent will be celebrated Saturday in front of the cathedral at Florence with a fireworks display.

Open House Be Held By Elks On Wednesday

The Sedalia Lodge of Elks will have open house, in their newly redecorated and refurnished lodge rooms, for their wives and families, at 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

The "at home" will be preceded by an installation service at which the recently elected officers will be installed.

Disabled Vets To Meet

The Disabled American Veterans will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, April 4, at 612 West Sixteenth street.

Recognition by The U. S. Given Franco Regime

Embargo on Arms To Either Side In Conflict Ends

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP)—The United States followed the lead of other powers today and accorded formal diplomatic recognition to General Francisco Franco's nationalist regime as the legal government of war-torn Spain.

President Roosevelt at the same time lifted a two-year embargo on the shipment of arms to either side in the long conflict which ended last Tuesday.

The recognition of Franco's victory, forthcoming weeks after Great Britain and France had acted, apparently was unconditional.

Secretry Hull merely sent a telegram to General Francisco Gomez Jordana, foreign minister of the Burgos regime, stating the "disposition of the government to establish diplomatic relations with that government of Spain."

Left to negotiation were such knotty matters as an exchange of envoys and American claims for compensation of properties seized during the civil war.

Hull avoided at a press conference a direct answer to a question whether cognizance had been taken of the presence of Italian and German troops in Spain. For obvious reasons, he said, he could not go into details now in such matters. He replied likewise to a question as to the possibility of a plea for leniency for the former republican fighters.

The proclamation lifting the arms embargo, was signed by the President at Warm Springs, Ga.

American recognition of Franco was delayed until the collapse of the republican government was beyond question.

Whether Ambassador Claude Bowers will be returned to his post at Madrid has not been disclosed. He returned to Washington several weeks ago. There have been recurrent reports he would be offered another diplomatic post, probably in Latin America.

Launch $5,000,000 Sub For U. S. Navy

MARE ISLAND, Calif., April 1—(AP)—The $5,000,000 submarine Swordfish was launched at Mare Island navy yard today, to be completed for service with the United States fleet August 1.

Five more submarines of the Swordfish's dimensions are under construction. It is 298 feet long at the waterline with a beam of 26 feet, one inch. Five officers and 50 enlisted men will man the vessel which will carry a three-inch gun.

Demands Chileans Probe 'Nazi Penetration'

SANITAGO, Chile, April 1—(AP)—The newspaper El Sol today demanded that the government investigate "Nazi penetration" in Chile.

"We must begin by determining the activities of German consuls," the paper said. "According to our information these foreign officials take an active part in Chilean politics and keep Nazism wherever they go."

S-C Plays Be Offered Again

So Successful A Presentation Be Repeated Monday

A second presentation of the Smith-Cotton high school interclass plays will be given in the school auditorium Monday night, because of the over-flowing crowd that attended the first series last Friday night.

Miss Patricia Poundstone, senior council president, announced then that those who were not seated could ask for their tickets at the door and that their admissions would be honored Monday night. The audience numbered 1,475 at the first showing, and many were turned away from the doors.

The senior class was awarded a gold-plated plaque for presenting the best play of the evening, and Jack McCullough who played the role of Tommy Tuttle in the winning drama, "The Ring and the Look" was judged the best actor.

Second Year of Plays

This is the second year that the inter-class plays have been presented. The plaque will become the permanent possession of the class that is awarded it three times.

The eighth grade class won the ticket-selling contest, and as their award, elected to present their play first. The sophomores were second; juniors, third; freshmen, fourth and seniors, fifth.

Five students were honored for selling the most tickets in the classes. They were Mary Beth Kueck, who sold the greatest

Hearings By A Senate Group on WPA Funds

Indicated House Sum $100,000,000 Be Approved

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP)—A Senate appropriations sub-committee held brief hearings today on President Roosevelt's request for $150,000,000 additional for WPA and, although a vote was deferred indicated strongly a disposition to accept the House's cut to $100,000,000.

The only witness at the closed session was Col. F. C. Harrington, the WPA administrator. A vote was put off until Monday, but Chairman Adams (D-Colo.), and Senator Townsend (R-Dela.), another sub-committee member, said they felt confident the committee would approve the House figure.

Administration lieutenants conceded they had slight chance to win approval for the other $50,000,000 in committee, but asserted they would make a vigorous fight on the Senate floor for a $150,000,000 appropriation.

Members of the Senate committee were reported to have questioned Harrington sharply as to what effort, if any, the WPA had made to curtail relief expenditures.

After the hearing, Adams said: "Between February 11 and

Homes Show Be Held Six Days

Special Features In Addition To The Exhibits

Plans are well under way for one of the most outstanding expositions of its kind ever held in Central Missouri.

The Sedalia National Homes Show and Exposition, sponsored by the Sedalia Federation of Labor with the cooperation of the Federal Housing Administration, as well as both local and national manufacturers and material dealers, will be held in The Missouri State Fair Coliseum for six days beginning Monday, April 24th.

Exhibit booths are more than 50 per cent sold. A pre-viewed stage attraction is already under contract to assure those attending a fast moving first class entertainment composed entirely of national stage and radio stars.

An initial advertisement announcing the exposition appears in this issue of the newspaper, and subsequent advertisements will bring to the people in detail the progress and program of the Exposition, which will no doubt equal the merit of similar ones held in the largest cities of America.

Exhibit Unit Coming

Definite word that the Federal Housing Administration will route one of its exhibit units to Sedalia for the six day National Home Show to open here was received by the Sedalia Federation of Labor, sponsoring the Sedalia show, from Washington, following completion of an arrangement between the show's sponsors and FHA.

Hitler Derides Anglo-French Anti-Aggression Pact; Poles Call Talk A Bid For Time

Poland Is Skeptical Of His Sincerity

By Robert B. Parker

WARSAW, April 1—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's Wilhelmshaven speech was interpreted in Poland tonight as a bid for time in which to split this nation from her new found solidarity with Britain.

Authoritative sources reiterated, however, Poland was willing to discuss the future of Danzig with Germany as an equal but that Poles would resist forcibly any German attempt to take Danzig by arms.

The British ambassador, Sir Howard William Kennard, conferred with Foreign Minister Joseph Beck, who is to leave for London tomorrow noon.

In London, Beck is expected to prepare for any contingency despite the comparative mildness of Hitler's speech.

Playing For Time

After considering Hitler's words informed quarters declared he was playing for time in which to recast German demands.

They contended that by mobilizing last May Czecho-Slovakia balked Hitler but the Nazis, by bidding their time, got what they wanted in September when the Munich accord arranged the first Czecho-Slovak partition.

Warsaw observers believed Prime Minister Chamberlain's promise Friday of British- French military assistance to protect Polish independence had taken Hitler by surprise.

As the Nazi fuehrer was speaking, a German newspaperman was arrested at Bygosz, in the Polish corridor, charged with "inventing atrocity stories" which he sent to Germany regarding the treatment of the German minority in Poland.

Lithuanian Relief

The Lithuanian minister to Poland, Jurgis Szaulys, declared Polish-Lithuanian relations had been brought closer together by Germany's absorption of Memel and expressed "Lithunia's belief that Chamberlain's action marked

Mystery Around Sudden Halt In Radio Broadcast

BERLIN, April 1—(AP)—Arrangements were made to broadcast Chancellor Hitler's Wilhelmshaven address today to the United States—even though it was not being broadcast generally—but the program suddenly ceased after the fuehrer had spoken only two sentences.

Tonight it was understood a countermanding order cut off the broadcast of the speech. That order was executed after Hitler had started speaking, and it reversed a last-minute grant for such transmission. Previously it had been announced there would be no broadcast at all as Hitler spoke.

Broadcasting officials here had laid the trouble to "technical reasons."

For reasons unexplained, the speech was not broadcast in Germany while Hitler spoke, although an hour later a recording of the address was broadcast in full along with a description of the day's events at Wilhelmshaven, where a new German battleship was launched.

This recorded broadcast was that of Hitler himself and was not read by someone else.

Surprise Abroad

(The unusual cutting off of the broadcast, combined with an unexpected delay in direct telephone and telegraph communication from Wilhelmshaven, caused considerable surprise abroad.

(The abrupt broadcast termination and the equally unusual interruption in the flow of telegraphic news kept the world waiting for about 90 minutes for news it felt certain was of prime importance. In New York, where radio listeners knew the fuehrer had starting speaking at 11:44

Fire at Bakery Entails a Loss About $2,000

Bakers Keep Busy At Ovens While Blaze Fought

Fire caused by a defective wall over an oven did considerable damage to the Taystee Bread Co., building, Main street and Prospect avenue, about 6:53 o'clock Friday night. Elmer Dillard, manager of the bakery said he believed the damage would reach at least $2,000.

An investigation revealed a defective wall in the oven fire box. It was believed the heat through this caused the fire, which evidently smouldered for several hours before it was noticed.

Dorsey Walter, who was working in front of the large oven, noticed smoke seeping out through the wall above. He reported the incident and the fire department was called.

When a hole was cut into the wall to fight the blaze it burst forth and up through an airvent. Quick work on the part of the firemen brought it under control within a few minutes without any damage to the ovens, and also without hindering the work of the bakers.

Work As Usual

While firemen worked above, the men in the "make-up" room and the bakery kept the bread going and coming from the large ovens.

The fire and smoke did not reach the ovens nor were any of the bread and rolls in the make-up room damaged. Work continued on regular schedule.

To reach the blaze, firemen had to hack away a large portion of the room which covered the four ovens. The ovens were protected by a thickness of rock wool and covered by a layer of sand.

The firemen used as little water as possible so as not to stop the bakery operations.

Don Wimmer, superintendent over the Sedalia plant, whose home is in Decatur, Ill., was in Sedalia on a regular visit and consulted with Mr. Dillard regarding the plant operations. He praised the Sedalia firemen for their efficient work.

Mr. Wimmer and Mr. Dillard announced work would begin immediately to repair the damage and indicated some changes might be made.

The losses are covered by insurance.

Heaps Scorn On Virtuosity Of English

By Louis P. Lochner

WILHELMSHAVEN, Germany, April 1—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler derisively threw back the Anglo-French aggression challenge today but avaided going beyond the intimation he might cancel Germany's naval treaty with Great Britain.

"Germany will stand neither for intimidation nor encirclement," he declared.

He spoke to 50,000 men and women of Wilhelmshaven and its vicinity in a 62-minute address after he had witnessed the launching of Germany's second 35,000 ton battleship this year, the Von Tirpitz.

"I once concluded a naval agreement with Britain. I was animated by the fervent desire that we might never again have a war with England.

Hints at Treaty Break

"If, however, that wish does not exist on the other side, then the practical preconditions for concluding such a treaty have vanished."

On the whole the fuehrer contented himself with heaping scorn upon Britain, of which he said:

"For 300 long years she has acted in a virtueless manner but only now in her old age speaks of virtue."

There also was an indirect reference interpreted as aimed at either President Roosevelt or Secretary of State Cordell Hull when the fuehrer, in describing Germany's efforts at economic expansion, asserted:

"We won't take orders in this matter from any European or extra-European statesman."

Hitler proclaimed anew the Rome-Berlin axis was unshakable for all time and he called Italy "the state with which we shall march now and in all the future."

Hitler insisted the Czechs, who have become subjects of the reich in the dismemberment of their republic, "will have more freedom that the suppressed peoples of virtueless nations have."

No Thought of War

Germany, he insisted once again, "is not thinking of making

Homes Show Be Held Six Days

shown at the Home Show here will be routed from Seattle, Washington, and will require a full freight car for its transportation, Chairman Hugh Janes said.

This material is part, he explained, of the entire exhibition material made available without charge by FHA to similar home shows and has been viewed by millions at the 800 home shows that have been held throughout the country.

Included in the FHA displays, according to Chairman Janes, is a wealth of informative material of interest, not alone to the potential home buyer, but the general public as well. Students in local educational institutions where the displays have been shown have taken particular interest in the display of "Famous American Homes" which includes photos and general information on famous homes in American history.

Floor space available for such FHA displays governs the size of the particular unit assigned to each city, it was explained by Chairman Janes. Central display booths, criss-cross panel displays, the Famous American Homes Pylon Displays, information booths, model homes, towers, sound equipment, and hanging signs are included in the material FHA has available for such home shows.

Recognizing the intense interest in and necessity for homes for the great mass of incomes, FHA has devoted one phase of its display to the types of homes which can be built in certain price ranges. Complete information on the methods of acquiring a home under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration as well as latest details of its Modernization Credit Plan, under which repairs, alterations and improvements to homes may be financed over a period of years, will be portrayed in their exhibits.

Included in the information to be made available through the FHA exhibits will be the required down payment under the Insured Mortgage System on varied priced homes, the monthly payments which include all charges, the various checks and balances FHA appraisal systems exert that the home owner may procure a sound, livable home. In addition, home owners planning repairs, alterations or improvements to their property can learn all such improvements which are eligible under the Modernization Credit Plan.

A striking part of the FHA exhibits as shown in hundreds of cities are the display towers, objects of beauty in themselves, lending a colorful and informative addition to the entire show display.

Wild Rumors Spread

(Rumors spread through the financial district that "something had happened" to the fuehrer. Newspapers in London and New York splashed news of the sudden interruption in page-width headlines.)

Possession of powerful radios capable of receiving foreign news broadcasts is dangerous, Germans were reminded.

An article from "German Justice," official judicial organ, detailing penalties for repeating news broadcasts heard from foreign stations was reprinted in newspapers.

The article said anyone repeating as news information from foreign stations would be punished with up to two years in prison if the items were injurious to the welfare of Germany, or to the reputation of the government or the Nazi party or any of its associated organizations.

Keyes, retired naval officer and a member of parliament, who said:

"I would shed no tears if the Anglo-German naval agreement were denounced. I do not think it is worth the paper it is written on."

Last December 30 Germany took advantage of a clause in the pact, which restricts her generally to 35 per cent of British naval tonnage. to announce her intention of building up to parity with Britain in submarine tonnage.

Informed British naval sources, however, cited what they considered would be important reasons why Hitler would have no desire to get into a capital ship race with Britain.

They pointed out:

1. It would be too expensive.
2. Britain has an advantage in men and materials available.
3. The building of capital ships would take too long in the face of present European conditions.
4. The German navy being designed as an aggressive, offensive force, to strike chiefly with submarines and bombing planes, Hitler would gain little by spending vast sums on large craft to fight on the high seas.

A. W. Johns reported to the police Saturday night his truck was robbed while parked near his auto supply store at Second street and Osage avenue, across from police headquarters.

war upon anybody, provided others leave us alone."

The fuehrer drew laughter when he said sarcastically:

"I think we had better leave to God to say who is virtuous and who not.

"To this the British statesmen will perhaps reply that God has already judged who is virtuous for he gave one-fourth of the earth to them.

In warning of resistance against encirclement, he announced:

"No power in the world can ever again force us to our knees."

He expressed the conviction the ultimate peace of the world was assured because, he said, "I believe the world will rid itself of the Jewish Bolshevik danger."

Germany, he said, was "perhaps not beloved, but we are certainly respected."

Oratorical Triumph

He told his hearers:

triumph by describing the British as meddlers in Germany's affairs.

His jibes about British policy in connection with Palestine drew rounds of applause.

"If a certain statesman says we have no right to do this or that, I counter: What right has England, just to give one example, to shoot down Arabs who defend their country?

"If a British statesman demands that we talk over with him every problem affecting our German space for existence (Lebensraum), I may demand that the British talk over every problem with us.'

"x x x We don't want anything in Palestine but Britain has just as little right to interfere in our German 'Lebensraum'."

He told his headers:

"I know I have hurt you at times by the things I demanded of you, but you have the satisfaction now of having a strong Reich.

a turning point in European history."

While Polish military preparations continued without let-up, informed sources asserted the Polish ambassador in Berlin, Joseph Lipski, had received two demands last week from Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

He was said to have asked unconditional Polish consent to German annexation of Danzig and extra-territorial rights for Germany to build a road through the Polish corridor to connect East Prussia with the rest of Germany.

Informed sources drew this picture of events that ensued while tension mounted in Europe:

Lipski replied Poland could not accept the demands in the words of Vice Premier Eugene Kwiatkowski — "Poland is indivisible. If we give away any part of it, the rest will be lost."

With a predominantly Germanic population, Danzig technically is under League of Nations' control but has a local Nazi regime. The Polish corridor was created by the Versailles treaty to give Poland a Baltic outlet.

Deny Intent At Aggression

BUENOS AIRES, April 1—(AP)—The German embassy formally denied today the German government harbored "aggressive intentions" against Argentine territory or had "intention to annex" such territory "in any way."

The embassy's denial followed publication by the newspaper Noticias Graficas of what it described as a facsimile of a report to the German government from a German embassy advised describing Patagonia, a southern Argentine region, as a "no man's land" over which Argentina was said to have "no right."

Earlier, the embassy described the document published in the newspaper as a "gross forgery."

February 25, they increased the relief rolls by 78,000. This was despite the fact that about 150,000 persons leave the relief rolls each month because they obtain other employment."

A further opportunity for reducing the relief rolls was offered, Adams said, when the WPA dropped 45,000 aliens under provisions of the last relief measure. He said 36,000 persons also were eliminated because they were found not to be in "actual need."

"But," he said, "these have all been replaced by others and the relief total still stands at approximately 3,000,000."

The WPA has announced 200,000 persons will have to be dropped from relief rolls during April if the $100,000,000 appropriation is retained. Adams disputed this, saying the "normal withdrawal" of 150,000 monthly from the relief rolls would make it necessary to eliminate only 50,000.

The Colorado senator expressed the view that considerably more than 150,000 might voluntarily give up relief jobs in April because of increases in construction and farm employment.

Suffers Stroke In Accident

Mrs. T. J. Jerriell, 69 years old, 815 East Eleventh street, suffered a paralytic stroke about 5:30 o'clock Saturday evening when the automobile in which she was riding with her son-in-law J. H. Freidrichfen of Davenport, Iowa, was in collision with a truck driven by R. B. Perriguey, of 2007 West Broadway.

Mr. Freidrichfen was headed east on Seventh street and Mr. Perriguey was driving north on Ohio avenue when the accident occurred. The truck, according to a report to the police, struck the Freidrichfen automobile broadside.

Mrs. Jerriell was believed to be suffering from shock when taken from the car and rushed to the Bothwell hospital, but upon arriving there she gave indications of having suffered a paralytic stroke which paralyzed her left side.

Her condition was reported to be very grave at midnight Saturday.

To Quiz Youth On School Fire

BOONVILLE, Mo., April 1.—Roilla L. Biltz, Jr., 17 years old, former Bunceton high school student, is held in the Cooper county jail for investigation in connection with the burning of the Bunceton elementary and high school building the night of October 21, 1937.

Biltz was picked up by Sedalia police Friday night, while visiting with relatives, and turned over to Sheriff Clay Groom and Prosecuting Attorney Harry Woolridge of Cooper county, later in the evening.

According to the Bunceton school officials the loss of the building and equipment was estimated at $40,000. They were at a loss as to the origin of the fire, believing at the time the blaze had started from "green coal" which had been stored in the basement of the building.

Biltz denied any knowledge of the burning of the building when questioned at the local police station.

Upon learning he was wanted by the Cooper county authorities, he went to police headquarters in Sedalia in company with a relatives and gave himself up.

Believe Fascists May Back Down

PARIS, April 1—(AP)—Belief Nazi Gemrany and Fascist Italy now may be backing down from their campaigns of expansion in the face of stronger French and British stand was expressed in diplomatic quarters tonight.

Chancellor Hitler's speech at Wilhelmshaven was interpreted today as a gesture for at least temporary conciliation with the democracies.

Hitler's address followed by only a day Premier Mussolini's announcement Italy could "wait" for satisfaction of its colonial demands against France.

France and Britain, however, are expected to persist in their efforts to bring the countries of central and eastern Europe into a general mutual assistance pact to serve as a definite barrier to Hitler.

Although it had been feared Hitler might reply belligerently to Britains announcement of British-French armed support for Poland, study of the speech led to the conclusion it contained "no sensational announcement."

The French-British pledge to support Poland in event of aggression was reviewed at a cabinet meeting this morning, and further negotiations were foreseen with Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

Article About Former Sedalian

A short article about Bob LaFollette Zander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl L. Zander, former Sedalians, now of Independence, Mo., appeared in the Kansas City Star Friday night.

Zander a high-ranking student at the University of Illinois, has used art to earn his way through four years of his six years of study at the university, where he will be graduated in June as a landscape architect.

The Zanders lived here for many years, and a number of years ago moved to Marshall, then to Indenpendence. They have two other sons, John Frederick, who has also been a student at Illinois university and Paul, of Little Rock, Ar., and a daughter, Mrs. Roy Frankenburg formerly Miss Ruth Adele Zander now of St. Louis.

Mid-Western Senators Join New Farm Bloc

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP)—Middle western senators, ignoring party lines, formed a corn-wheat-dairy bloc today similar to the older and powerful cotton bloc of southern senators.

The presence of Secretary Wallace at the birth of the new legislative group gave rise to immediate speculation it was formed to oppose the cotton bloc, now engaged in controversy with Wallace over his proposed cotton subsidy program, but the middle western senators emphatically denied that.

Senators Lucas (D-Ill), leader of the new bloc formed in his office, said its purpose was "a broad scale, unified farm program affecting all sections of the United States against current uncertainties in world affairs."

Palm crosses will be distributed at both the communion services, at 7:30 and 11, and also to the children at 9:30. The public is invited to attend the services.

Proclomation

Whereas, Easter throughout the world means hope, life and rier promise of fulfillment, and

Whereas, in Missouri we have come to connect the Easter season with special consideration for the unfortunate children in our midst; crippled through no fault of their own, yet who are also entitled to a full share of life, hope, and happiness, and

Whereas, the annual effort of the Missouri Society for Crippled Children and its affiliated societies and committees, to raise funds for the support of its work, should receive wide and substantial attention, and

Whereas, no cause is more worthy or just and none more humane than to work together to lift Missouri's children out of the cold of hopeless despair and into the warmth of the sunshine of normal and happy childhood.

Now, therefore, I, Lloyd C. Stark, Governor of Missouri, do hereby give my approval to the Sixth Annual Easter Seal Sale of the Missouri Society for Crippled Children and proclaim the week prior to Easter, April 2 to 9, inclusive, as CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S WEEK and urge all citizens to buy Easter Seals to the limit of their ability.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the great Seal of the State of Missouri to be affixed at Jefferson City, this 31st day of March, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty-Nine.

(Signed) LLOYD C. STARK, Governor of the State of Missouri.

(Countersigned) Dwight H. Brown, Secretary of State.

Hirth Endorses Police Plan

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 1—(AP)—William Hirth, president of the Missouri Farmers' association, tonight endorsed Governor Lloyd C. Stark's Kansas City police plan, told "rural Democratic members of the legislature" their districts were against Pendergastism and gave Stark a boost for United States senator.

Stark defeated Hirth for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1936.

"Let the rural Democratic members of the legislature make no mistake," Hirth emphasized in a statement.

"The rural people have made up their minds to smash Pendergastism, and therefore these members must choose between being known as 'regular guys' among the well-groomed leaders of the machine or carrying out the wishes of their constituents.

Hirth said Stark's proposal to wrest control of the Kansas City police department from home rule was a "practical necessity."

KRUGON RELIEVED HIS MISERABLE BACK PAINS, CONSTIPATION

Mr. Johnson Injured In Collapse of Barn On Which He Was Working Five Years Ago, Suffered Intensely With Aches And Pains Since; Could Find No Relief In Anything He Tried

The digestive process in the body is the process by which different foods are made available for uses of the body. The food as taken into the stomach must be changed into a form that is readily absorbed into the blood stream. This process is accomplished by a chemical digestive manipulation or operation. All these changes are accomplished by the separation or decomposition of the food stuff by the addition of water. When the failure of this process occurs the individual has disturbances of digestion which brings on faulty elimination which is often the source of bodily aches and pains, night risings, sleeplessness, nervousness, backaches, biliousness and dizzy spells.

For example, read what Mr. Lewis Johnson, a well known local gentleman who resides at 404 Hancock St., Sedalia, said recently in a statement reaching the McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., this city:

"I recommend KruGon to all my friends since the wonderful results that I have received from its use," said Mr. Lewis Johnson "I was injured in the collopse of a barn on which I was working about five years ago and ever since that time I have suffered dreadfully with pains in my back and legs. For a long time I could not even put on my shoes without help. Then too, for years I had suffered with constipation and irregular bladder action. My system was filled with poisonous impurities which failed to be eliminated. I was so sluggish and did not have ambition to do my work although it would have been an impossibility I suffered so greatly. I tried various remedies on my case and some would give me partial relief but were sooner or later a disappointment. Then I heard about KruGon and decided to give it a trial."

"KruGon was the best remedy I had ever tried for aches and pains as well as chronic constipation," continued Mr. Johnson. "I never intend to be without it. My back pains have been entirely relieved, my bowels and bladder are regulated, impurities are being removed and I feel better than I have in years. KruGon was mild in its action, easy to take and did not leave any unpleasant after effects. KruGon has certainly merited all the praise that is given it and more too."

KruGon is sold by the McFarland and Robinson Drug Company, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.

Report Made On Injuries To Hotsenpiller

Sedalian Improves At "Vets" Hospital At Leavenworth

Troy Hotsenpiller, world war veteran, who became temporarily mentally deranged last Monday night, and after being quieted by police officers was taken by ambulance to the U. S. Veterans hospital in Leavenworth, Kas., was visited Friday by Mrs. Hotsenpiller and their family physician, Dr. C. D. Osborne.

Because of the numerous reports on the street relative to the manner in which Hotsenpiller was handled by the officers, it being necessary to use force, Mayor J. H. Bagby and the police committee of the city council, made an investigation of the case.

At their request, with the consent of Mrs. Hotsenpiller, Dr. Osborne made the trip to Leavenworth. Mrs. Hotsenpiller accompanying him. Upon his return he made a written report of his examination to Walter Pinkepank, chairman, and members of the police committee. He explained the injuries to his head, chest, extremities, wrists, thighs and legs and included in his report the following statement: "The wounds about his head had been cared for nicely and were healing. There was no evidence that he had suffered an extraordinary hard beating from night sticks or that the blows had been of great force. In fact, the most painful of his injuries are due to his own resistance to the restraining bands used."

The police committee conducted the investigation at the city hall where the city attorney, John Z. Montgomery questioned forty persons, some who were eye witnesses to the incident, others who were known to have made statements concerning it. All witnesses were placed under oath and their testimony taken down by Roy Snyder, court reporter, who had part of the testimony transcribed Saturday.

It is the opinion of about all but two of the witnesses, in their statements, that the police officers had not been brutal, but that it was necessary for them under the circumstances, to use force in quieting the ill man, who violently resisted them taking him in hand.

When the evidence is completed by Mr. Snyder, and the results of the examination compiled in proper form, it will be given to the city council.

Snatched From Jail and Slain

PANAMA CITY, Fla., April 1—(AP)—Miles W. Brown, 28-year-old son of a retired minister, was shot to death today by a band of masked men who abducted him from jail after expressing dissatisfaction because he failed to receive the death penalty in a murder trial.

Brown was convicted last night of slaying Roy Van Kleeck, in whose hardware store he formerly worked. The jury's recommendation of mercy made a life sentence mandatory and saved him from the electric chair.

Jailer Johnny Goodwin declared and took his keys to open into the room where he was sleeping, bound and gagged him and took his keys and open Brown's cell.

Goodwin said one of the men told him "the law didn't do justice but we will."

Brown's bullet-pierced body, clad in pajamas, was found a few hours later on a country road. It was Florida's first lynching since last August.

Spring Is Time For Farmhouse To Be Repaired

Much Farm Modernization Is Expected This Spring With FHA Aid

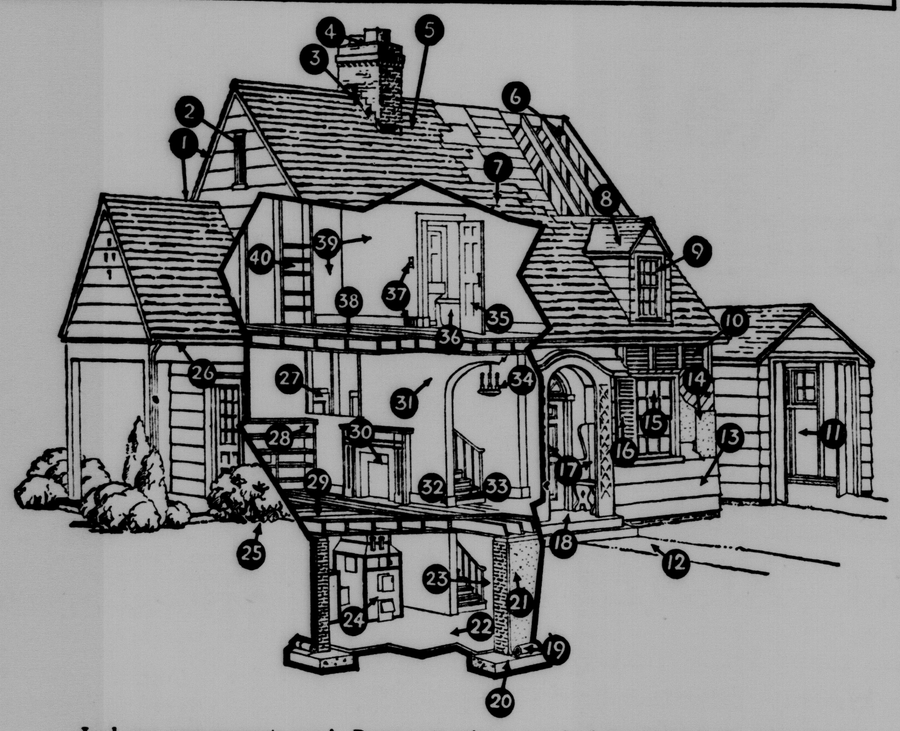

The Winter lull between harvest and planting is often the only time the American farmer takes his eyes from the field to consider the condition of his home.

This Spring, more than previous ones, is expected to witness a volume of farm-home improvement work, traceable largely to amendments to the National Housing Act which permit farmers to share in the benefits of the FHA-insured mortgage program.

Farmers may obtain money from qualified or approved lending institutions under the terms of the National Housing Act for property improvement and new construction. If the property meets FHA standards and an amount equal to at least 15 per cent of the loan is used to construct or repair the farm home or other buildings, an FHA-insured mortgage may be used to replace present burdensome obligations.

A wide field is covered in the types of farm loans which are insurable by the FHA. A recent breakdown of Property Improvement Credit Plan loans to farmers revealed that additions and alterations to the farmhouse led other types of repairs, while roof modernization occupied second place. Exterior paining and plumbing were high on the list of improvements financed through FHA-insured lians.

Spring—The Time for Needed Home Repairs

Look over your property now! Prompt attention to repairs helps maintain the value of your home and prevents large "emergency" bills later on. Funds with which to repair, alter, or improve properties may be obtained from financial institutions qualified under the Federal Housing Administration's Property Improvement Credit Plan.

The following numbers and list of items correspond to the numbers in the cross-section view of the home above: (1) Exterior trim; (2) attic ventilation, attic room; (3) flashings; (4) chimney masonry, cap, etc.; (5) roof; (6) rafters, studding; (7) roof sheathing; (8) dormers; (9) weather-stripping; (10) lath; (11) garage, tool space, workshop, etc.; (12) walks and drives; (13) exterior walls; (14) sheathing and insulation; (15) window frames and sash; (16) blinds, shutters; (17) porch bench, transom, door columns, etc.; (18) steps, brick, wood, concrete, tile, etc.; (19) drain tile; (20) footing; (21) foundation walls; (22) basement floor; (23) recreation room, laundry, workshop, etc.; (24) heating plant; (25) grading and landscaping; (26) gutters, downspouts; (27) modern kitchen; (28) built-in bookshelves, cabinets, cupboards, etc.; (29) joists and subflooring; (30) fireplace, mantel, flue; (31) paint, wallpaper, interior decoration; (32) interior trim; (33) stairways, treads, rails, balusters, etc.; (34) electric fixtures; (35) doors, hardware; (36) plumbing and fixtures; (37) outlets and wiring; (38) flooring, finished lumber, tile, linoleum, etc.; (39) wallboard, plaster, etc.; (40) closet space, shelves etc.

Large Gains In FHA Activities Are Announced

Home Financing Increases With Middle West Showing Up Best

Large gains in home-financing activities under the FHA plan since the first of the year, especially in the Middle West, were announced recently by Administrator Stewart McDonald.

During the week endinf March 4 applications for mortgage insurance on small homes reached $26,263,496, a new all-time high in FHA records. This compares with $21,425,892 during the previous week and $17,613,402 for the corresponding week last year. The previous high, $24,504,214, was established in the week ending October 21, 1938.

Applications for small-home mortgage insurance are being received at a rate of nearly $5,000,000 each business day. Over 70 per cent represent newly constructed homes.

Accurate Barometer

Heretofore applications for mortgage insurance have proven an exceedingly accurate barometer of future building acitvity. These figures would indicate, therefore, a most active Spring building season, with small-home construction possibly attaining the largest volume in a decade.

Particularly notable was the increased activity in the Middle West. For the entire country small-home mortgage-einsuranc applications in February showed a gain of 102 per cent over February of last year. For the Middle West area, however, the gain was 217 per cent. Much of this gain took place in the industrial centers of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.

Trend Gratifying

"This trend in the middle-western area is especially gratifying," said Administrator tSewart McDonald, "because that section until recently had been lagging behind the rest of the county."

Since the first of the year small-home mortgage-insurance applications have totaled $163,807,405, compared to 72,516,837 during the same period in 1938.

In February applications totaled $86,213,375, compared to $77,594,030 for January and $42,612,638 for February last year. Mortgages accepted for insurance during February totaled $41,223,700 compared to $42,217,800 for January and $18,865,700 for February of last year.

Premium-paying mortgages recorded during February totaled $44,383,400, compared to $55,382,500 for January and $21,373,550 for February 1938.

During 1938, the Civil Aeronautics Authority listed 10,000 certified planes. There are 1159 more planes that are uncertified. Of this number, less than 300 are commercial airlines.

A new fighting plane is reported to be able to be off the ground and out of sight almost straight overhead in 90 seconds! It is supposed to climb 5000 feet a minute.

Many View The Planting Of Trees

Nearly 35 adults and 4-H Club members attended the tree planting demonstration on the J. Walter Rissler farm in the Maplewood community Friday.

Black locust yearling seedlings were used in the demonstration. These seedlings were planted in a gully to control erosion and at the same time furnish a supply of post timber for the farm.

Before planting the trees, the planting site was prepared by sloping the sides of the gully so that the slope of the sides was approximately 45 to 50 per cent. After the sides of the gully were ployed in, they were thoroughly worked down with a smoothing harrow. The seedlings were planted in the gully at a distance of approximately six feet apart in staggered positions.

In order to help protect the young trees and to further prevent soil losses, three buck bush dams were planted in the gully. In the use of trees, Mr. Bowen of the Missouri Conservation Commission, pointed out to those in attendance that forest seedlings could be used for plantings as a windbreak, woodlot or erosion control in gullies.

Species used in Missouri include the Black Locust, Osage Orange, Shortleaf Pine, and Cottonwood. The advantage of using the seedlings developed in the nursery is the good root system that they have. Mr. Bowen pointed out that in planing these seedlings he holes should be dug deep enough so that the seedlings could be transplanted in the same depth that they grew in the nursery and that the soil must be thoroughly packed around the seedlings when planted. He also pointed out that it was important to protect the planting from livestock so as to give them all the advantages possible for growth.

Reveal Fortune In Old Currency

ST. LOUIS, April 1—(AP)—Old style currency totalling $103,000 was found Friday in the safe deposit box of Miss Louise E. Pim, 89-year-old spinster who died March 21 in a shabby house she rented for $32.50 a month.

The box was opened by executors of her will.

Forty thousand dollars, also in the old large-size bills, was found hidden in her piano shortly after her death.

She was the last member of an old St. Louis family, and had lived alone for 10 years.

Edwin H. Wagoner, after discovery of the first cache of money, recalled that 40 years ago as secretary-treasurer of a lead company, he had paid the Pim family more than $100,000 in cash for lead properties in St. Francois county.

puts GAS to the forefront as
The Fuel of Tomorrow

FIFTY MILLION VISITORS to the Great New York World's Fair will find gas lamps, torches, flambeaux . . . lighting the boulevards and illuminating the spectacles. They will find Gas designated as the fuel for COOKING, WATER HEATING HOUSE & SPACE HEATING in the structures operated by exhibitors, by the Fair Corporation . . . and in all buildings that will remain permanently after the Fair.

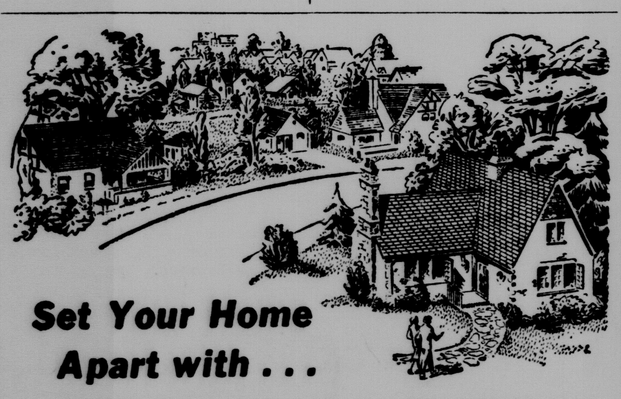

Gas Fuel Will Predominate
Two million cubic feet per day is said to be a conservative estimate of the volume of gas to be used by the Fair. Millions will throng the $750,000 Gas Industries Building . . . its "Court of Flame" ringed by towering pylons scientific displays, exhibition hall for industrial, commercial and household appliances, the "All-Gas Home," and a spacious auditorium where George Rector, world famous Chef, will do his genial best towards furthering the popular use of Gas.

Not All Will Attend the Fair
It would be fine, of course, to be able to go to the World's Fair to see all of the new developments which will influence the World of Tomorrow, but it will not be essential in-so-far as Gas Equipment and Gas Application are concerned. Every new appliance designed for the use of Gas will be made available in Sedalia through your Gas Service Company as soon as it is developed and ready for use. In addition to that, in Sedalia may be had NATURAL GAS of the highest quality to be received anywhere. In the matter of QUALITY, RELIABILITY OF SERVICE or OPERATING COSTS, no part of the country — not even New York — can offer more than may be had by the people of Sedalia. We are proud of that fact and our Engineers will be glad, without obligation, to assist you in making it possible for you to enjoy the use of the many new Gas Developments. Truly it may be said:

Color Brightness Features Fashions

Color-brightness is the theme song of the spring fashion season.

The shades remind one of party ice creams or of an artist's brilliant-hued landscape or of carnival balloons. This is Eastertime.

Look for cyclamen, daffodils, camellia, iris, lime, buckthorn, azalea—not flowers or fruit, but 1939 spring fashion colors.

Jewels, too have lent their names—topaz, ruby, jade and lapis. Again present are bronze and russet shades.

Spring violet and Victorian pink are new inspirations of old familiar colors.

In these gay ways, designed to increase American feminine optimism, so contradictory to warscares of other lands, the coustumiers are styling clothes of buoyant verve and jauntiness.

The same dash and color-freshness are featured, too, in the accessories. Make the most of the warm, bright days ahead and flatter yourself with color.

Mrs. Van Horn spoke on "Conservation of Wild Life and Flowers."

Seals Sales To Aid Crippled

Governor Stark has declared the week prior to Easter, Crippled Children's Week in Missouri for the benefit of the work of the Missouri Society for Crippled Children and its local committees. It is a cause that has long attracted the sympathy and assistance of the informed people of the state. Dr. Gordon Stauffacher is chairman of the sale in Pettis county.

Last year nearly 400 children were born with deformities and reported to the State Board of Health. The Missouri Society estimates that these deformities do not constitute more than 10 or 15 per cent of all crippling conditions. The University of Missouri reports that there are 10,000 crippled children in Missouri under 15 years of age and has shown that it is able to serve only 6 or 7 per cent of this group under present provisions. Furthermore, according to the Missouri Society private hospitals are probably not handling more than 20 per cent of the cases. And all hospitals cannot care for children beyond the fifteenth birthday. It is to coordinate and extend the services of these institutions and agencies and to give needed service to young cripples between 15 and 21 years of age that the Missouri Society has directed its efforts.

The sale of Easter Seals during Crippled Children's Week is the main means of support for the work of the Missouri Society. Whether it is able to reach more children this year than last—it extended assistance to some 500 young cripples during 1938—depends entirely upon the support that is given it throughout the state his year. Your purchase of Easter Seals wull buy braces for children who need them, will furnish transportation to and from St. Louis and Kansas City hospitals and will extend information to perplexed parents and workers alike who have not yet heard of the help the Society offers.

'Yellow Jack' With Robert Montgomery and Virginia Bruce At Uptown Theatre, Today, Monday and Tuesday

Virginia Bruce and Robert Montgomery in "Yellow Jack"

"Yellow Jack," smashing story of the discovery of the mosquito that carried the deadly yellow fever, is the main feature at the Uptown today, Monday and Tuesday. Robert Montgomery as a plain soldier of the line, in love with Virginia Bruce, pretty nurse assistant to Lewis Stone, hard working army doctor, turn in excellent performances in their respective roles. It is a picture long to be remembered, based as it is on historical facts. Second feature is "Men Are Such Fools" with Wayne Morris, Priscilla Lane, Humphrey Bogart and Hugh Herbert, all at their best in this sprightly comedy.

A Great Classic Comes To The Screen

Shirley Temple is the center of all the drama and gayety involved in "The Little Princess," her first technicolor production, which comes to the Liberty Theater on Tuesday for 3 days. A great supporting cast, headed by Richard Greene, and Anita Louise (upper left) supports the dimpled star in this 20th Century-Fox screen version of the great classic. Others shown here are Beryl Mercer as Queen Victoria (upper right) and, reading clockwise, Ian Hunter, Arthur Treacher, Sybil Jason, Mary Nash and Ceasar Romero.

Mrs. Spahr In Auto Accident

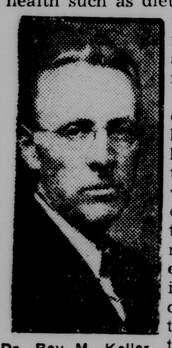

Mrs. Mabel Spahr of Green Ridge was taken to the Clinic at Warrensburg Thursday evening suffering with minor injuries sustained in an automobile accident on Highway 50 two miles west of Warrensburg.

Mrs. Spahr was riding in her 1931 model Buick sedan driven by her son, R. Adair. Mr. Adair's story on the accident, which was referred to county authorities here, stated that he was blinded by lights from an approaching car as he was driving east and did not see a car in front of him which was without a tail light, and to avoid the car in front, he drove off the side of the road.

The sedan rolled down a 10-foot embankment and was practically demolished. Mrs. Spahr and her son had been to Kansas City to claim the car from authorities where it was picked up after being stolen and they were enroute home when the accident occurred. She had a blackened eye, minor lacerations about the face and scalp, and her son suffered only minor bruises and scratches.

MORE THAN SPECIALIST

Most persons think chiropractors, are spinal or nerve specialists. They are more than that, they consider everything which has to do with the maintenance of health such as diet, exercise, posture, sunlight, mental attitude and environment.

Dr. Roy M. Keller

A patient recently said that he did not see how we could treat a case involving a vital organ such as the lung, pneumonia as an example. First it must be understood that the nerves from the spine affect and reach every part of the body. The quantity of blood to any organ is controlled by the sympathetic nerves from the spine. A normal blood supply to any organ is necessary for cure of any disease and the quicker it is restored to normal, the sooner the recovery. Spinal treatment will do this better than any other way. Chiropractors have recourse to ALL adjunctive measures that other doctors have. Our treatments are not necessarily to the spine alone, there are many other proceedures which we cannot discuss in such articles as this. However, these methods plus, spinal treatment, correct MORE of the fundamental causes of disease than any other method.

Stars Reunited In Sparkling Hit

The gayety is delirious, the wit sparkling and the comedy slambang when lovely Loretta Young and debonair Warner Baxter play the love game with a new set of rules in "Wife, Husband and Friend," the 20th Century-Fox hit which opens today at the Liberty theater. These two delightful stars, with a host of your favorite players, cavort through several reels of catch-as-catch-can romance and wind it up with the funniest climax ever filmed.

The picture's opening finds Loretta and Warner blissfully happy in their marriage. Loretta has loads of money, a grand husband and a lovely home. But, just like a woman, she wants one thing more. She wants to sing! And, to make matters worse, she does.

Encouraged by Cesar Romero, her music teacher, and a group of well-meaning friends, Loretta makes her debut on the concert stage in spite of Warner's protests. The debut is successful, thanks to her husband's seat-selling efforts, and she plans a cross-country tour.

Roxie Highland Great Show Horse Is Dead

Roxie Highland, one of the world's greatest 3-gaited saddle mares, died at the Spindletop stables, Lexington, Ky., where she had been retired since 1934 after being purchased by Mrs. F. M. Yount, widow of a Texas millionaire oil operator.

Roxie Highland was sold as a yearling to John T. Hook, who later sold the mare to Herbert M. Woolf of Kansas City for $20,000.

$27,000 was the price paid for the horse in 1930 to Mr. Woolf by Miss Mary Fiers of Oklahoma City. At the time Miss Fiers had purchased Roxie Highland, she had won thirty-four grand championships and blue ribbons. At that time she was declared to be as near perfection in ring manners and beauty of lines as any horse ever exhibited.

Many times Roxie Highland has been seen in the horse shows of the Missouri State Fair, and as many times has she won championships and blue ribbons.

Mike Jacobs To Rid Boxing Of Gamblers

NEW YORK, April 1—(AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs picked this "All Fool's day" to announce that henceforth "forcible steps will be taken to prevent known gamblers from operating" in any arena where Mike's boxing programs are held.

"Jacobs' move," the announcement from his office said, "Is prompted by his conviction that gamblers represent the most evil influence in boxing.

"Jacobs is particularly aroused by the tendency of gamblers to quote ridiculous odds on matches signed by his Twentieth Century Sports club. He regards it as most discouraging to have alleged experts tear down his major fights by announcing absurd odds weeks in advance of the contests."

Sarazen Leads In Augusta

Hail Stones Don't Stop Famous Golfer From Three Birdies

By Kenneth Gregory

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1—(AP)—It was April Fool's day and the weather, as customary here, did a lot of fooling—but the fellow who fooled all the wiseacres was Mr. Eugene Sarazen, the Connecticut farmer-golfer.

Dripping wet but uninjured by hailstorms whipped furiously by the wind, Sarazen breezed through the second act of Bobby Jones' Augusta national golf show in 66 shots.

Some one accused the Connecticut squire of playing white hailstones near the cup to get three birdies on the last four holes, but Sarazen ordered a cup of tea and assured one and all his record equalling 66 was legitimate.

As the sun played hide and seek with lightning, hail, rain and wind to give golf's "world series" a clean sweep of the elements, Sarazen finished in a cloudburst to take the lead through 36 holes at 139, one shot in front of the field seeking the $1,500 check.

The freak display of weather threatened for a while to force postponement of play, but after 45 minutes the sun beamed down again and the field resumed activity, with Jones winding up with a 77, five strokes over par, and far down in the ranks with a halfway total of 153.

Sarazen was one shot under three favored players, Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. V., Ralph Guldahl, the national open champion from Madison, N. J., and Byrson Nelson of Reading Pa., as the field lined up for tomorrow's 36-hole finals.

Other scores included:

James T. Montgomery of Sedalna, noted conservationist who has hunted and fished all over the United States and Mexico, was re-elected president of the Conservation Federation of Missouri, at the State onvention in Columbia Friday.

He was first named president of the federation, when it was organized last year at Jefferson City.

James T. Montgomery

In a talk that afternoon, Mr. Montgomery told the convention delegates that "we must get the farmer on our side in building up a conservation program.

The meeting, which convened Thursday at the Tiger Hotel, was attended by 200 men and women conservationists, who heard addresses from Governor Lloyd C. Stark, Nash Buckingham, noted wildlife writer and conservationist, of Memphis, Tenn., and others.

Reports from counties were given showing the progress and improvement during the past year. Carter county won first place in the selling of wildlife stamps, followed by Jasper, Greene and Audrain counties in that order.

The date and place of the next state convention will be chosen by the board of directors, consisting of one member from each of the 34 state senatorial districts.

THE Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, is not a bit backward in taking hold of a sport which has swept the country the past few years in amateur baseball. The Post recently voted to sponsor an American Legion Junior Baseball

The following committee, appointed by Commander Robert Q. Henderson, has been making the preliminary arrangements: R. Z. Purvis, chairman; Carl G. Schrader and Dick Woods. This committee has functioned quietly the past week, but made progress in their purpose of getting plans ready and the forming of the team is now assured.

Purvis Saturday morning announced the services of Fred Yeager, former Columbus American Association pitcher, have been obtained to manage the team. Yeager, interested in the progress of youth in baseball, consented to handle the team after the committee had implored of him to do so.

Yeager, although retired from professional baseball, is only twenty-nine years old, has had plenty of baseball experience which will be invaluable to the youngsters who seek to make places on the Legion club.

The committee said they were seeking games with Legion teams at Columbia, Jefferson City, Clinton, Warrensburg, Marshall, and later in the season would seek games with Kansas City, St. Louis and other clubs which have been active for two or more seasons.

Players, to be eligible, must have been born on or after January 1, 1922. No player can be more than seventeen years old.

AGAIN Sedalia is honored with the election of James T. "Uncle Munn" Montgomery, president of the Conservation Federation of Missouri, at the state convention held in Columbia last Friday.

Mr. Montgomery was chosen as the first president of the Federation when it was organized a year ago, and without opposition and the demand of the various clubs in the state, he again accepted the honor. It was his interest and untiring work in the conservation work that has brought him to the front among all hunters and fishermen of the state.

In his acceptance talk Mr. Montgomery brought out the farmers of this state should and must be respected by the hunter and the fishermen. "Water, food, and cover are necessary for abundant wildlife and we must respect the farmer's rights and help him furnish these essentials if we are to be successful with our program," Mr. Montgomery said.

THE Democrat office has several famed fishermen, namely: Dell Ilmberger, Lyman Keuper, Lawrence Brill and last but not least Jack Reuter, whose form is shown below holding a string of fish which he declares were "caught on my line," down at Bennett Springs on Sunday, March 26.

The same string of fish may be seen appearing in the metropolitan newspapers soon. At least that is the thought Fisherman Reuter announced when his Pix was displayed around the office.

Jack told of how a very nice looking young lady from Kansas City saw him carrying the string, and how she desired to snap his picture with the promise of sending him copies. The "hitch" came when the fair young lady desired to have her picture taken with the same string. The young reporter kindly consented to "lend" her the fish for a minute and her picture was "snapped."

The fair damsel kept her word and sent him "copies" of the picture. Now everyone is wondering why he does not show the picture of her around to his friends.

Jack was accompanied on the trip by Jimmy Meyers, George Meyers, Frank Behen and Dick Behen, who refuse to divulge any secrets of the trip.

YOU fishermen and women who are interested in knowing the seasons closed and open, might be interested to know the "Digest of Conservation Regulations" (booklet on game and fish laws and regulations), issued by the Missouri Conservation Commission, have an error regarding the seasons on page 6, and corrected pamphlets are being sent out by the Commission.

The booklet gives closed seasons from March 31 to May 30 on the following species of fish: large mouthed black bass, small mouthed black bass, crappie, white or silver bass, rick bass, black perch or green perch, jack salmon, yellow perch, bluebream or bluegill sunfish, white perch (drum sheepshead.)

The corrected pamphlet reads closed seasons on: bass of all species, crappie, jack salmon and goggleeye.

William "Bill" Rissler, county clerk, received a letter confirming the correction, along with pamphlets, which will be given out to those who will call for them at the court house. The letter was from I. T. Bode, director of the Commission.

Green Ridge To Entertain Team

Green Ridge high school basketball champions will be honor guests at a banquet to be held at the Presbyterian church in Green Ridge, Friday night, April 7.

The high school team is deserving of the honor to be bestowed upon it for the record made in the past two years. Last year the season's record was marred by one defeat, while in the previous season a clear slate was had by the quintet.

Fourteen members of the squad together with the coach of the school, E. R. Peterson, will hear remarks by Chester Brewer, director of Athletics and George Edwards, basketball coach at the University of Missouri, who have been invited to attend the banquet.

Two members of the Missouri Tiger basketball team of this year will also accompany Coach Edwards and Mr. Brewer to Green Ridge.

Teams Begin To Organize Hard-Soft Ball

Sedalia Will See Plenty Of Both Kinds This Year

There will be several softball teams in Sedalia from early indications of managers of teams which functioned last season in the city league. Organizing of a city league has not yet been determined, pending the number of softball teams formed this spring.

Roy Edwards, manager of the Rosenthal club, Saturday issued a call for all players interested in softball and desiring to play with the clothing store team, to report to him immediately, so practice can be started.

Glenn White, who plays with the Missouri Pacific Boosters in 1938 is forming a team, but as yet has not found a sponsor to handle the club. Several merchants have indicated they are considering the matter at the present time.

The Adco Chemist team will probably be organized although Cecil Higgins, manager of the team last year, hasn't made any plans to date. The Chemists have had a team the past three years which presented a good record in Central Missouri and won for themselves the name of having one of the best clubs in this part of the state.

The Missouri Pacific Boosters, it is understood, is planning on forming a baseball team, and at first it was said softball would be discarded. Saturday it was indicated they might again organize for softball as well as baseball.

In years past the Missouri Pacific teams, both hard and soft ball won the respect of every team in Central Missouri. They put upon the playing field for several seasons one of the best nines in Central Missouri and played not only in these parts but also in Kansas, Arkansas, Texas and at various railroad division points.

In softball last year the Boosters "mopped" up and put Sedalia in town in softball.

Stewart Avenue Markets club no doubt will be reorganized and although they were rather in the minority in 1938, they gave the fans plenty to watch while upon the field.

The Knights of Columbus disbanded at the last of the '38 season, because of failure to come through with enough winning games to put them on par with the leading clubs. Indications are a few of last year's players desire to get another team together.

Without a doubt the Sedalia Mill Products Co., will burst forth with a team this summer, one which will probably be formed before the season gets far underway.

Armstrong Is Fight Winner In The Twelfth

Davey Day Stands Up Gamely But His Stamina Fails

NEW YORK. April 1—(AP)—For 11 vicious rounds Henry Armstrong exploded his dark dynamite on the rock chin of gallant Davey Day to no avail last night, but the pressure of the pounding proved too much at last and hammerin' Hank retained his world welterweight championship by a technical knockout in the 12th round.

Armstrong weighed 135; Day 136.

Before a crowd of 10,028 cheering fans, who rocked Madison Square Garden with their roars for the skinny Chicagoan, Day finally gave way before the terrific pace and the furious punishment and was led to his corner a beaten fighter at 2 minutes, 49 seconds of the 12th heat of the 15-round contest.

gate of $29,008.

After the fight, Armstrong was a worn victor and Day a tired bruised victim. If anything, Armstrong showed more effects from the struggle. Day's only marks were a closed right eye and a sore nose. Armstrong not only needed four stitches to sew up the slash along his right eye but Dr. Vincent Nardiello, after examining the astonishing Henry, announced the big knuckle on the index finger of his left hand had been broken, and that his right fist was badly bruised.

Referee, Jack Dempsey, formerly heavyweight champion

Convention hall, Thursday, April 6. First match, 8:30 o'clock.

Auspices of the Elks Club.

Jack Dempsey is billed as the referee for the all-star wrestling bill Thursday night in Convention hall. He may also fight. That is a prospect which grows by the hour as reports reach here that a 'gang-up' of heavyweights against the former world champion is being plotted.

Already Mike Kilonis, villianous Greek, who owns the world junior heavyweight title, has sent word he intends to 'blast' Dempsey, should the Manassas mauler attempt to curb him in assaults on Don George, Boston, in the windup event.

Dempsey certainly will not be intimidated by the blatant New Yorker, who boasts that referees everywhere have cringed when he entered the ring.

Kilonis will be denied the use of his 'neck-cracker' hold in the meeting against George. Members of the Missouri Athletic Commission have instructed Dempsey that the edict against the hold must be observed.

Dempsey has been "dared" by Kilonis to enforce the ruling. With a hair-trigger temper and apparently itching for trouble, Kilonis, has mapped a course that almost certainly will require stern attention by Dempsey.

Reports that Kilonis will attempt to enlist the aid of other "roughers" on Thursday's bill in a "gangup" on the former champion, are heard. If such a conspiracy should be effected the probable lineup in the mass attack would also include Al Perry, of Pecas, Texas and Elmer Guthrie, burly Kansas "wildman" Perry, who meets Harry Caddell, of Sherman, Texas, boasts of his prowess as a fighter.

"And I'd just as soon try out Dempsey," Perry declared.

Guthrie apparently is obsessed with the idea that he can "muss up" any referee, including the world's most popular sport's figure. It is unlikely that Guthrie would try the job against Dempsey singlehanded, but could be depended upon to lend aid to his fellow "roughers" should they try the mass assault.

Fans who have often expressed the belief that Dempsey would still be the champion if he and Tunney had met in private, relish prospect of a free-for-all and are convinced that if this takes place Dempsey will require no outside assistance.

Already it appears that a great crowd will be on hand to greet Jack and they are assurred of a big evening's entertainment. Promoters for the Elks reiterated yesterday that Dempsey will referee every match on the star-studded bill. He's coming to this city direct from New York and Sedalia fans will have a chance to see him in action ahead of other points in the midwest.

In addition to the appearance of Dempsey, eagerly awaited by all, the caliber of wrestling on Thursday's program will be far above the brand formerly seen here, it was said. Kilonis appeared in this city previously inflicting a defeat against "Wild Red" Berry, who later won the light heavyweight title.

Don George claims the east coast heavyweight title and was a Boston sensation prior to his campaigning in this section where he has rolled up a big victory string.

Harry Caddell, scaling at 210 pounds and well versed in all of the wrestling maneuvers will provide tough opposition for Perry, it is thought. And John Evkovich, consistently ranked among the nation's heavyweight leaders, looms as a tough foeman for Guthrie.

Overseeing all of these and intent upon preserving peace and order will be Jack Dempsey, peer of all sports figures.

City Election Tuesday--Name Four Aldermen

Each Party Will Elect A Board of Education Member

Election Also of Superintendent County Schools

Tuesday will be election day in Sedalia. Four aldermen are to be chosen to become members of the city council, filling the vacancies made by the expiration of terms of one representative from each ward. Those whose two year terms expire, all Democrats are: First ward, Frank Hugelman; second ward, H. S. Barman, third ward, A. J. Knipp; fourth ward, Dr. F. M. Fulkerson. With the exception of Hugelman all are candidates for re-election.

E. H. McLaughlin is the Democratic nominee in the first ward.

Opposing the Democrats are the following Republicans: First ward, Murrell Hayden; second ward, Gus Gehlken; third ward, A. L. Pringle; fourth ward, George James.

The voters will also cast a ballot for two members of the school board, Allan O'Bannon, Democrat to succeed himself and Richard Keenan, Republican. Election to the board of education is non-political. Each party names a candidate, and nomination means election, although they are balloted on at the polls.

Two other school issues come before Sedalia voters Tuesday. One the matter of the $1.00 per $100 valuation school levy for current school expenses, the other to determine whether there shall be a nine months school term.

Throughout the county all voters have an opportunity to cast a ballot for county superintendent of schools. C. F. Scotten, Democrat, present incumbent is the only candidate in the field. This office is also non-political.

The pre-election city campaign has been an exceptionally quiet one. Political leaders have held meetings in the wards or precincts, all fairly wel lattended, where candidates have appeared and issues have been discussed.

Polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. Voting places in the city are:

First Ward: Precinct No. 1, Fire Engine House No. 2; Precinct No. 2, Mark Twain School Building; Precinct No. 3, Lincoln School Building.

Oppose Inquiry On The NLRB

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP)—Administration leaders indicated today they would oppose demands in the house for a congressional investigation of the national labor relations board.

Speaking privately, some of the leaders contended the inquiry, proposed by Representative Anderson (D-Mo), would not produce evidence sufficiently valuable to warrant the proceedings. Furthermore, they said, it might prolong the session of congress.

Several members of the house rules committee, before which the proposal is pending, have expressed themselves in favor of the investigation, and informed source said the group probably would resume consideration of the measure next week.

The senate labor committee has scheduled hearings for April 11 on proposed changes in the Wagner labor relations act.

Anderson has introduced legislation to abolish the present labor relations board. The Missourian contends enactment of his bill would permit the administration to "start over again" in its efforts to work out suitable labor legislation.

Ratner, governor of Kansas; Dr. C. E. Lemmon, president of the convention; Mrs. K. L. Potee, Missionary from India; Dr. Burris A. Jenkins, Rev. Paul Preston, Dr. Hampton Adams, Rev. G. S. Haworth, Rev. A. W. Kokendoffer and others.

Rev. David Owen will be the song leader for the convention.

The annual conventions of the church have for many years been largely attended and highly successful, due in large measure to the untiring efforts and enthusiasm of Rev. John Stuart Mill, general secretary of the Missouri churches, who will complete 28 years of service just prior to the opening of the convention. For five years he was national secretary of Christian churches in Canada, and during the remaining 23 years has led the churches in this state both as district and as state superintendent.

Rev. Mill, while a comparatively young man, is an able executive, knows his state and his people and loves the work in which he leads.

Happy, Even Though Physically Disabled

W. F. Hartman (left); Ernest Pfunder (center) and Raymond Tindell (right), cripples, smile as they explain how they have become self supporting.

W. F. Hartman, 30, who suffered infantile paralysis in January, 1928, and has been paralyzed from his hips on down since, has only words of commendation for the Missouri Society for Crippled Children, which he says made it possible for him to be happily engaged in the watchmaking business at Third street and Lafayette avenue, earning his own living. Two other persons, Raymond Tindell who had infantile paralysis twenty years ago and is paralyzed from the hips down and Ernest Pfunder, a sufferer from rheumatism, are apprentices in the place.

"I was living at 1612 South Missouri avenue in January, 1928," said Hartman, "when I became ill with infantile paralysis. I was bedfast, or able to sit up in a chair a little each day for four months. When I recovered I had no use of my legs. I was discouraged and disheartened, and cared little what happened to me until 1935 when the leaders of the Pettis County Society for Crippled Children asked me to attend their first clinic. I did, and I have missed but one since. They became interested in me, sent me to the University hospital, Columbia, gave me proper treatment and braces that fit and made it possible for me to learn the watchmaker's trade. Now I have this little shop and two apprentices who are as happy in their work as I am in mine."

Hartman takes every opportunity to call on other persons disabled as he is, particularly children, encouraging them to take advantage of the county clinic for crippled children, and receive the treatment which in some instances affects a cure, in others may mean only improvement, but almost invariably results bring about a brighter outlook on life.

Tindell, who is thirty years of age, was ten years old when he had infantile paralysis. Pfunder, now 39, has no pain from the rheumatism, but it has left his joints stiff, making it necessary for him to use crutches.

Doubts Foreign War Develop

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP)—Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the senate foreign relations committee, said today in his opinion recent events in Europe had diminished the possibility of a general war in Europe.

Pittman, who often reflects in congress the administration view toward foreign affairs, said it was his personal opinion the statement of Prime Minister Chamberlain, pledging Great Britain to fight to preserve the territorial integrity of Poland, had "opened the door to peace in Europe."

He added it was his belief the clear indication from American officials of favor for aiding the European democracies, in every way short of actual armed support, had had an effect in dissuading Chancellor Hitler of Germany from pursuing further territorial ambitions.

"The Chamberlain speech clearly leaves the door open to reasonable and peaceful adjustments of any differences that my exist between Germany and Poland," Pittman said.

All of these events, he added, have cleared up " to a certain extent, a very chaotic and dangerous situation which, if it continued to persist, might involve the United States by reason of its determination to maintain the Monroe docrine."

Runaway Car Injures Fifteen

LOS ANGELES, April 1—(AP)—Fifteen persons were injured and two automobiles were demolished when a one man street car, suddenly thrown in reverse by jammed controls, staged a backward runaway in the edge of downtown Los Angeles.

Motorman Harry Morgan said apparently the automatic door threw the reverse lever into position to begin the wild flight which the car operator said he was unable to stop.

Finally the trolley crashed into another fully-loaded car at Grand avenue and Venice boulevard, bringing the strange, wild flight to an end. The runaway began at Grand avenue and Eleventh streets.

Morrow said he ran to the back end of the car, seeking to pull the trolley, but in doing so smashed his hand.

There were more than one hundred people on the two cars when they collided.

Trade Pact By U. S. And Turkey

WASHINGTON, April 1—(AP)—The United States and Turkey pledged mutual tariff cuts on numerous products today in a reciprocal agreement which cut across an intensive German trade drive to the East.

The agreement, formally concluded at Ankara, represented the first extension of the administration's reciprocal trade program into the near East.

The 20th nation to sign such an agreement with the United States, Turkey obtained 47 per cent of all her imports last year from Germany, through barter arrangements, and only 10.5 per cent from this country.

The tariff concessions cover a large proportion of the total American-Turkish exchange of goods, which amounted last year to approximately $31,500,000.

The United States agreed to reduce duties on numerous Turkish agricultural and other products, and Turkey cut duties on American manufactured goods.

The agreement becomes effective May 5 and is to continue indefinitely.

Like other trade agreements, the pact provides for unconditional most favored nation treatment and extension to other countries of the mutual tariff concessions.

Revival Is To Be Continued

(By Church Reporter)

Friday evening at the First Baptist church was designated as the Young People's night.

George Reynolds, singing director, was at his best and the audience was deeply impressed by his singing.

It has been definitely decided that the revival will continue for another week closing Easter Sunday. The announcements as to the program of the week will be made Sunday morning.

The subject of the pastor's sermon was "The Chief Problems of Today" taken from Mathew 19:27, "Then answered Peter and said unto him, Behold, we have forsaken all and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?"

This is just after Jesus had been talking to the rich young ruler. The rich young ruler had asked: "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" Somehow this disturbed the disciples, and Peter asked, "Lord we have been following thee, forsaking everything, what do we get out of it? That is too often the question of today. What do we get out of it?

There are these thoughts which I would like to discuss with you. The fact that there are two kingdoms. The kingdom of the world. The kingdom of heaven. And the magnetic and drawing power that each of these have upon the heart. And, finally, the question as to the choice of which one of these kingdoms we shall serve.

First there is the drawing power of the kingdom of the world presided over by the satan who is a liar, a hater of God, and a boaster. Let us notice just what the inducement is in each of these kingdoms. The kingdom of the world is bidding for every person. It says, "If you will not be on this side, it will be hard on you. You will be unpopular. It will be hard for you to make a living. You will lose. You will be restricted to a narrow unhappy life.

What does the kingdom of God offer? He does not offer all of the things that the world offers. He doesn't offer selfish pleasure. He offers eternal life. He offers peace. He offers the satisfaction that one can gain from knowing that he has done his duty. He says, "I am the way, the truth and the light."

The kingdom of the world demands no change in your life. It says you don't have to change any to be in my kingdom. But there is no inducement to come into the kingdom of God without a change. If there is anybody who professed to be in the kingdom of God and there is no change in his life, there is no place in God's kingdom for him. God offers to give us a new birth.

How can you enter the kingdom of God? You must be born again. God doesn't say you can enter his kingdom without a changed heart. With the birth there is offered a new nature. Ye are new creatures in Christ Jesus. Also there is offered a spiritual insight. It gives the Christian the power to judge the value of things in the world.

The kingdom of the world will lead you to despair. The wages of sin is death while the kingdom of God will give you eternal life. Don't live so close to the kingdom of the world that the world thinks you belong.

Meet By Eldorado Extension Club

The Elodrado Extension Club met Friday at the home of Mrs. Paul Gregory. The president, Mrs. Gregory called the meeting to order, and roll call was enswered by giving the name of a bird, and whether it is a friend or enemy of man.

Mrs. Ira Pace was appointed secretary to take the place of Mrs. Sam Ramsay, the former secretary. Mrs. Claire L. Montgomery talked on kitchen, yards and gardens. Year books were distributed.

The next meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. Finis Galloway on April 28.

Proclamation

Whereas, the 75th Congress of the United States, in the Joint Resolution, No. 82, has set aside April as Cancer Control Month and Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, has issued a proclamation urging a wholehearted attack on cancer,

Whereas, cancer is a disease whose control depends above all else on an intelligent and alert general public,

Whereas, an organization known as the Women's Field Army Against Cancer, led by able women and directed by leading physicians, is conducting a comprehensive program of education in this state under the slogan "Early Cancer Is Curable. Fight it With Knowledge,"

Whereas, authorities in cancer control point out that between one-third and one-half of the persons who died of this disease last year, in this state, could have been saved by early diagnosis and treatment,

Therefore, I, Julian H. Bagby, Mayor of the City of Sedalia, do set aside the period from April 1 to April 30, 1939, as CANCER CONTROL MONTH in the City of Sedalia and I call upon all citizens, all agencies concerned with public health, to support the work of the Division of the Women's Field Army.

In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 1st day of April, 1939.

JULIAN H. BAGBY,
Mayor of Sedalia.

Homemakers Of Ionia In Meeting

A most enjoyable day was spent by the Ionia Homemakers at the home of Mrs. C. W. Robinson on Tuesday. The project for the day was yard improvement and check sheets were distributed among the members by which they could check and score their yards.

At the noon hour a lunch was served, cafeteria style, each member contributing a dish.

Following lunch the members sang the club song, "There's Music In The Air."

The roll call response was "Name a Bird. Is it man's friend or enemy and why?"

Mrs. G. G. Williams, the dramatic chairman, gave a brief biography of Eugene Field and read the following of his poems: "Little Boy Blue," "Our Two Opinion," "Grandmother's Prayer," and The Duel.

Mrs. C. C. resigned as current events chairman and Miss Louise Brady was elected to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Montgomery was present and discussed with the club yard plantings and the care of lawns.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. B. Brockman at which time the project will be, "New Ideas About Every Day Needs."

Price Raising Legislation Unpopular

The Oregon legislature recently set an example that could be profitably followed by other states, when it overwhelmingly defeated a proposal to levy a heavy, graduated class tax on the chain stores within its borders.

It's becoming apparent that the public is growing weary of price-boosting legislation. As the Silverton, Oregon, Appeal-Tribune says editorially, "The public is discovering that it must take forcible action to protect itself against all the schemers who want to pile up taxes on the least provocation, and particularly where foodstuffs, the essentials of life, are concerned." In those states where chain store taxes, so-called fair trade acts and similar restrictive measures have been enacted into law, the common result has been higher prices, a lessening of competition, unemployment due to the closing of stores which could not carry the tax, a depression in rental values—and a consequent lowering of the people's standard of living.

There might be some excuse for class taxation against the chains if they were actually destroying other types of retailing. But the fact of the matter is that the number of chain stores has decreased in the last decade. The volume of business done by the chains has held at a relatively constant level for many years, and they do somewhat less than 25 per cent of all retail trade, with independents accounting for the bulk of the remainder. Economists who have studied the question generally take the view that chain development has reached its apex.

The best weapon the independent store has against chain competition is good merchandising. And thousands of independents are using this weapon to the fullest advantage. They have adopted innovations made by the chains. They have made many innovations of their own, some of which have been imitated, in turn, by the chains. Look around your own town and you'll see independent stores which are doing more business than at any time in the past. And the consumer benefits every time in service and price.

8,900 Lives

The country has reason to be very proud of the definite progress in street safety. February was the 16th consecutive month to show an improvement over the same month of a year before.

The February death toll was 1,810, or 250 less than the 2,060 lives lost in February, 1938. The National Safety Council estimates that 8,900 lives have thus been saved since the period of unbroken traffic improvement began in November, 1937.

This record must not be spoiled. Are you annoyed sometimes at what seems over-regulation of traffic?

Don't be, for its is this continual drumming away that is maintaining the improvement of which we are all proud.

Surely the saving of 8,900 lives is worth a little occasional inconvenience.

45,000 Tons

The Washington disarmament conference is only 18 years behind us, and yet here we are today beginning the construction of two 45,000-ton battleships, bigger, more powerful (and more expensive) than anything we have built before.

The difference between the honest effort at Washington to ease the crushing arms burden and the renewed race of today is the measure of these 18 years.

There is almost no criticism of the new battleship program. We did not choose the road.

But it is perfectly plain that if we are to have a navy at all, it must be better than any combination it is likely to meet in anger. A navy that is almost as good as its opposing fleet might better not be built.

So here we go, and the only thing we can do is to assure other countries that if that is the game they choose, we can play it, too, and play it to win.

But we should be now, as in 1921, willing to stop in whatever manner and degree others are willing to stop.

The Secret Treaties Again

If there is a showdown this spring between France and Italy, as seems likely, it will be well for every American to remember that Italian dissatisfaction with its share of the spoils of Versailles goes back even farther than 1919.

It goes back to the secret treaties of 1915 and 1916 by which the allies (chiefly France and England) made certain promises to Italy in the event of victory.

At the outbreak of the World War, remember, Italy was allied with Germany, as now. But she had little heart for the war, and hesitated. By making promises of a slice of territory here and a concession there, the allies were able to beguile Italy from the Germans and win her as an ally.

The more specific of these promises, involving South Tyrol, Trieste, Trentino, Istria and Dalmatia, and the whole "sphere of influence" of the Mediterranean area, were included in secret arrangements between Britain, France and Italy long before the United States entered the war. The question of just how much Woodrow Wilson knew of these secret treaties before the United States went in, is an historic riddle, not yet completely unraveled.

But certainly the people of the United States in general knew nothing of the deals by which the loot of the war was already divided up among the victors years before they were sure they were going to be victors. The American people have never felt as heavy a responsibility for the peace of Versailles as others, but for these secret arrangements which preceded the war, they have none whatever.

The controversies between France and Italy over Suez, slices of north Africa and Mediterranean islands, go back to a time long before the United States ever dreamed of entering the World War.

Italy maintained at the peace conference and has maintained steadily ever since, that the allies failed to pay the agreed price. Italians have insisted that they were promised certain parts of the loot which they never received. And that is what they are still shouting for today when Mussolini grimaces and screams at France.

Thus the question of whether Italy or France governs the unwilling natives of Tunisia is distinctly no headache for the United States, 4,500 miles away.

• The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Human relationships on the Supreme Court of the United States sometimes are extremely close. For years Justice Stone was the friend and disciple of Justice Holmes and Brandeis. From Brandeis he got his economics, from Holmes his social Philosophy. The teachings of the two older men are written into Stone's more notable opinions.

Now, however, Justice Stone is in a position to become the guide and leader. For with the confirmation of William O. Douglas, two men who once occupied the position of teacher and pupil will sit together on the same Supreme Court dais. This is the first time in history that this has happened.

Justice Stone was Dean of the Columbia Law School when Bill Douglas, then a raw-boned, gangling youngster from Yakima, Washington, one day walked in to see him. Douglas had ridden east on the freight cars, worked part of his way through Columbia Law School, but in his last year his funds had run out. So not knowing which way to turn, Douglas stopped at the office of the Dean to ask advice.

Dean Stone probably was the busiest man at Columbia. He was a member of a downtown law firm, taught several classes at the school, and as dean had a thousand and one administrative details to handle. Douglas was merely one of several hundred law students and relatively unknown to Stone.

However, Stone saw him immediately. Most busy executives would have given a youngster of Douglas' type only five minutes. They would have fingered their watch and passed him off to an assistant. But Douglas has always remembered how Stone dropped everything and talked to him for two hours, as if the question of his remaining in school was the most important question in the entire University.

Stone told Douglas that he also had faced financial problems when he was a law student, and that he finally went back to teaching in Vermont until he could save enough money to return and take his degree.

In the end, Douglas decided to follow Stone's example, found a high school teaching job in Plainfield, N. J. Just before leaving Columbia, however, he dropped in at the university employment bureau as he had a hundred times before without success. But this time he found an application for a ghost writer to help prepare a book on law. Douglas got the job. It paid him $600 and permitted him to continue at Columbia. This was one of the turning points in a career which eventually was to land him beside his teacher, Dean Stone, on the Supreme Court.

Twin Trust-Busters

In the years that ensued, the gangling youth from Yakima who poured forth his troubles in Dean Stone's office has followed many of the precepts of his teacher. And his teacher, in turn, has been following the path blazed by Holmes and Brandeis.

Stone, as Supreme Court Justice, has been cracking down on "corporate officers who award themselves large bonuses from corporate funds without the assent or even the knowledge of their stockholders," and upon "reorganization committees created to serve the interests of others than those whose securities they control," and finally upon the towering edifice of business and industry . . . that seemed to be the impregnable fortress of a boasted civilization, but which has developed unsuspected weaknesses."

These words of Stone's have all the ring of his old teacher, Justice Brandeis, in "Other People's Money." And translating those teachings into concrete action, Bill Douglas, as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, jailed Richard Whitney, cracked down on corporate bonuses, and exposed the "unsuspected weaknesses" in the "towering edifice of business."

Douglas Opposes Stone

No two men could have complemented each other more perfectly than teacher Stone with his opinions, and pupil Douglas with his two-fisted policing of Wall Street.

Now that Stone and Douglas are seated on the same bench, however, it is doubtful whether the pupil will continue to follow the teacher.

For with the death of Justice Holmes and the ageing of Brandeis, Justice Stone has begun to change. No longer do his opinions have the philosophy of the days when he sat at their knees.

When the Nine Old Men were knocking off New Deal measures like clay pigeons, Stone was a consistent dissenter. Invariably he was with the minority. His dissent in the AAA case gave President Roosevelt a better campaign document than his Brain Trust ever could have concocted.

"The courts are concerned only with the power to enact statutes, not with their wisdom," Stone wrote in that case. "For the removal of unwise laws from the statute books appeal lies not to the courts but to the ballot."

The opinion was a terrific blow, aimed directly at the Old Deal majority on the bench. But today, Stone is usually with that Old Deal majority. On no important issue has he dissented this term.

Hoover's Pal

The other day when Herbert Hoover returned to Washington, he had a private breakfast with some of the highest Republican leaders. In the group were John Hamilton, various Congressional GOP big shots, William R. Castle, Jr., ex-Under Secretary of State, and Harlan Fiske Stone.

Always close to Hoover, Stone is closer than ever now. Once the two men were members of the Coolidge Cabinet, later played medicine ball together every morning before breakfast.

As President, Hoover leaned on Stone for advice, and today he still does. The two correspond regularly. Probably there is no one in Washington, save Bill Castle, in closer contact with Hoover than Justice Stone.

Some of Stone's friends hope that the presence of his old student, Douglas, on the bench, together with the influence of Felix Frankfurter, will bring him back to the liberal side. They think that the custom of the student following the teacher may be reversed.

This remains to be seen, but one thing is certain. Two years ago, Roosevelt had in mind making Stone Chief Justice of the Court in case Hughes retired. That has now been changed.

And today, should Mr. Hughes step down, William O. Douglas, the pupil, rather than Harlan Fiske Stone, the teacher, is much more likely to become Chief Justice of the United States.

Fellowship of Prayer

Hope Marches On

Palm Sunday, April 2 . . . much people . . . when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, took branches of palm trees and went forth to meet him . . . Read John 12:12-16.

Many things, seen and unseen, marched with Jesus as he rode down the slopes of Mount Olivet over a palm strewn road. Not easy to say which was greatest but certainly there floated above Him, unseen, in the bright air, the banner of the world's hope, the hope of the Kingdom of God. That hope found voice in the acclaim of the multitude, that hope led Him on. He knew that the palms were premature—the cross must come first—but He went on to die for it.

This morning that procession of promise seems sadly halted, that hope so piteously postponed. But we must not surrender it. A great hope is a priceless possession, but we have no right to entertain it save as we are willing to lose ourselves to make it come true. It is no small thing to subdue the world or a soul—to the spirit of Jesus. But every brave person who entertains the hope of a Christian world and makes his life a way for the Master's way is road builder for the King of Love. Hope marches on.

Prayer: Lord of the sovereign causes, whose banners are hope and love, grant that we this morning may be part in spirit and in truth of Thy victorious on-going. Let our palms laid before Thee be obedience and our acclaims be a new consecration to Thy Kingdom. Amen.

Five things are requisite to success—ability, clean hands, dispatch, patience and impartiality. —William Penn.

Honor is worth its danger and its cost, and life is worthless without honor.—G. Bernard Shaw.

Success usually comes to those who are too busy to look for it.

Yesterday: Eric arrives to find Emily firm in her decision to leave Alan. He faces a dilemma since he wants to be fair to Alan, but he loves Emily. Then Dr. Farrell rushes in, asks what Emily has done to Alan!

CHAPTER XIV

"WHAT have you done to that boy?" Farrell repeated, as Emily did not answer.

"There's nothing wrong — he hasn't—" Fear shattered Emily's calm.

"Of course he hasn't done anything wrong," Farrell answered shortly. "He came to the hospital, went to the delivery room. Outwardly he was the same. But he's been hurt, terribly hurt, Emily. He can't hide that from me. He's been like my own son. I could see it in his eyes. Now, what is it?"

Emily told him briefly, covering in terse, clipped sentences Alan's refusal to meet Dr. Peterson, her own intention to get a divorce. When she had finished, Farrell slumped into a chair, sat with bowed shoulders, staring before him. No one spoke.

For a long time they sat there—Emily, Eric and Farrell—thinking, and all afraid to voice those thoughts. Finally, Farrell rose, jammed his hands in his pockets and stood, his back to the mantel, facing Emily. Eric was forgotten.

"Do you really want a divorce, Emily?" the doctor asked kindly.

"Don't you love Alan?" he continued as Emily did not answer. "Could you go through life happily, without ever seeing him again?"

"I know what I'm doing." Emily's muffled answer came to him. She was sobbing again. Farrell steeled himself against her tears. He loved the child, too. If he gave in now, everything would be lost. She must be made to realize fully all the consequences of her divorce, and he, alone, could do it. She might resent the intrusion of an outsider, but he could speak as Alan's father would have spoken.

"I want you to be sure that you do, child." His voice was as gentle as his touch might have been, calming her turbulent emotions. "I knew—even when Alan accepted Peterson's offer—that he would never leave Sumner. This is his life."

"But it's not mine! I can't stand it, Doctor. I can't. Alan's life. My life. Entirely separate. It can't go on."

"You're right, Emily. It can't go on. But before you give up, before you smash both your life and his, see if there isn't another way. You may think you could be happy without Alan, but you never will. Nor can he be happy without you.

"You want to blame Alan. Don't. Let's not blame anyone. But consider this: when you came to Sumner you were a bride — a gay, happy young bride, ready to begin a new life as a doctor's wife. The honeymoon lasted for a while. Then—

"You refused — unconsciously perhaps—to assume the duties of this new life; you sought to carry over into your marriage the ideas of girlhood. And it won't work—it never will. You can't move St. Louis to Sumner any more than you can bring its parties here. You can't relive those days of courtship and first love; marriage is entirely different and you must face it."

EMILY said nothing as he talked, but she marveled that he knew as much about her as he did; it was as if he could read her thoughts. Farrell had seen her increasing discontent, worried over it; even, he said, maneuvered so that Alan could be at home more. Cases that he might have sent Alan, he cared for himself, so that Emily might enjoy a party or an evening at home.

He had even sensed danger in Eric's coming, for Kane's love for Emily had not been hidden from him. He had trusted Eric to leave before breaking up Alan's home, he told them, and even now he was sure that Eric had not betrayed that trust.

"You thought that by taking Alan to St. Louis, you could regain his love," Farrell told Emily. "You imagined because Alan apparently neglected you, that he no longer loved you. You didn't want to go to St. Louis for parties, for the old crowd, even for your family. You wanted Alan—all for yourself, so you wouldn't have to share him with anyone.

"It wouldn't have worked there, child, and it might have been much worse."

"I don't see how, Dr. Farrell," Emily said. Admitting that Farrell had hit the truth, she could not see any hope of the future. "Certainly you don't expect me to go on here in Sumner like we have?"

"No, I don't. What you must realize, Emily, is that a country doctor's wife plays a vital part in his profession, in his success. When you married Alan, you married medicine, too. You have your share of the obligation, and until you assume it you won't be happy.

"I don't understand what you mean, Doctor."

"Let me tell you a story, Emily. It's about Alan's mother."

"SHE came to Sumner as a bride, even as you," Farrell began. "And she found her first few months of life here every bit as difficult and as hateful as you have found them. Sumner wasn't quite the city it is now, and there were few amusements for the daughter of a senator. She could go to church, do her marketing and that was about all. People's tongues were pretty sharp then, too.

"But Sarah Warren wouldn't admit defeat. When she found medicine was crowding her out of her husband's life, she became an important factor in that medicine, and working with her husband, she was with him constantly.

"She suffered many of the same hardships he did; she had a part in his successes; she was hurt by his failures—because they were her successes and her failures too.

"I've known Sarah Warren to get up in the middle of the night, walk half a mile across town through snow, to send Dr. Warren to another call, when she could not reach him by telephone or messenger. She has sat for hours at the bedside of a sick child so that the sleepless mother might get a little rest. She went with her husband on obstetrical cases, driving miles over country roads, taking charge of the house and other children, if there were any, assisting when she was needed.

"She learned to calm hysterical mothers, even to advise emergency treatment—until she could send Dr. Warren.

"You were hurt when Alan couldn't get home Christmas. Did you know that when Alan had pneumonia, as a baby, his mother sat alone with him while he passed the crisis, with her husband ten miles away? She sent him on that call, too."

"But I can't do anything like that now, Dr. Farrell," Emily said. "Times are changed. Alan has the hospital, nurses. There's no place for me."

"Yes there is, Emily. Times change, but patients do not. You can still lend a bit of comfort, taking a call, far better than a switchboard operator can. And, what is more important, you can stop hating his patients and start being interested in them, so that he can talk to you about them. You can respect the confidence he places in you. You can encourage him when he needs it; you can learn when he is worried that he must not be annoyed by trifles. You may even have opportunity to help. You might have been needed up at Carroll's the other night.

"In short, Emily, you have to be just what Alan's mother was to Sumner—'Mrs. Doc.'"

They were all startled as Alan strode into the room. His face was pale and drawn. His eyes were dark, yet gleaming with hidden fire. He did not greet them.

"Kane," he said, "I want to talk to you."

It Happened In America

By L. O. HONIG

Colonel David Crockett, one of the glorious defenders of The Alamo, pioneer of the Tennessee country, was by choice a hunter and trail-blazer. Born in humble life, but gifted with a strong will, an indomitable courage, and unremitting perseverance, he was one of the most remarkable men of his time. His early military career was confined to the Creek Indian War of 1813-14, under General Andrew Jackson. Serving several terms in legislature of Tennessee, he was elected to Congress, serving with great credit for honesty and integrity. He liked to hunt bears. During one fall and winter he killed 58, and supplied his neighbors with their winter's meat supply. During the year he killed a total of 105 bears, a record probably never equaled. Much could be said of Crockett and the other gallant defenders of The Alamo, but it will be left for another time, suffice to say however, their names have been indelibly recorded on the pages of American history, and his as a truly great American, who gave his life for liberty, in the siege of The Alamo, on March 6, 1836.

The first naval committee of the Continental Congress, consisting of Joseph Hewes, John Adams and Stephen Hopkins, all signers of the Declaration of Independence, was appointed in October, 1775. On the following November 25, Congress provided for a navy, then to consist of two ships and two brigantines, established admiralty courts, and made naval regulations; and on November 27, 1775, appointed Dudley Saltonstall to take command of one of the ships. He thus became the first captain in the new American navy.

Rather conclusive evidence that to become a naturalized citizen of New Jersey in colonial days, one of the requirements was membership in the Protestant church. An instrument known as the Naturalization papers and Communion Certificate of Mathias Sagur, dated November Term, 1761, of New Jersey Supreme Court, evidencing this fact, has been preserved and is the property of Miss Katherine N. Stryker of Phillipsburg, New Jersey.

Yale College, now Yale University, was founded in 1701 and was located at Killingsworth, Connecticutt. In 1708 it was removed to Saybrook, where it remained until 1716, when it was fixed at New Haven. Governor Elihue Yale was among its principal benefactors, for which in 1718 it was called Yale College. Its first charter was granted to 11 ministers, who were designated trustees. In 1801 it had 224 students.

Franklin, Missouri, across the Missouri river from Boonville, the beginning of the Santa Fe Trail, was the outpost of civilization, when St. Louis, with 4,000 population, was the only other large town west of the Mississippi. It boomed its fur trade and fairly seethed with excited men. Today what has been left of the town by wild onrush of the Missouri river has a population of 346 persons.

VIGNETTES OF LIFE

Wheat And Corn Both Decline

CHICAGO, April 1.—(AP)—Favorable domestic winter wheat crop reports today more than offset European political uncertainty. Wheat prices fell as much as ¾ cent a bushel temporarily with the close ¼ to ½ cent down. Trade was light.

Throughout the session most traders favored the sidelines, awaiting word of Hitler's speech. The belief that April reports of the U. S. winter wheat crop, due early next week, would prove bearish, also restrained traders.

Whseat closed ¼ to ½ cent down, May 67⅝c to 67¾c, July 67⅝c to 67⅜c; corn ⅛ to ½ cent down, May 47⅝c to 47¼c, July 49¼c; oats unchanged to ¼ cent down, May 29⅝c to 29¾c; soy beans ⅝ to ¾ cent down, May 87½c; rye ⅛ to ⅝ cent down, May 41⅝c; lard unchanged to 5 cents down.

Corn moved slightly lower. Export business was negligible.

Oats and rye trade was light and prices little changed, lard futures averaged slightly lower, partly in sympathy with grains.

Some Recovery To Stock Market

NEW YORK, April 1.—(AP)—In the speediest and jumpiest Saturday session for more than a year, the stock market today overrode heavy selling to close with recoveries of 1 to more than 2 points.

With Europe still the greatest question mark on the financial horizon, brokers attributed the comeback largely to the reinstatement of trading positions on the theory the sharp relapses of the preceding two days may have been overdone.

Dealings, going at a racing gait during most of the brief proceedings, slowed down near the finish as boardrooms tuned in on Hitler. The broadcast was cut off just as the Fuehrer started to speak and the market closed before the text of the address was received.

Prices pushed up rapidly at the start. It was a churning performance, however. Bdiding stepped up just before the sound of the gong and final quotations were around the best of the day. A number of issues, though ended behind minus signs.

The turnover of 1,558,430 shares was the largest for a two-hour day since October 23, 1937. It compared with 439,270 a week ago. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 6 of a point at 45.8, but on the week this composite showed a net loss of 3.3 points.

Prominent on the upward reversal were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, American Smelting, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern and General Electric.

Bonds and commodities failed to follow stocks, most displaying rugged trends. Wheat at Chicago was off ¼ to ½ cent a bushel and corn lost ⅛ to ½ cent. Cotton conceded 10 to 30 cents a bale. Sterling and the French franc were about unchanged in terms of the dollar.

Adult Barks Up Wrong Tree When He Talks Down To Child

By Olive Roberts Barton

There is a difference between talking to a child in language he understands and talking "down" to him. A little child is very serious and dignified and is easily hurt by condescension.

Mr. Pompous meets small Andy on the street and begins, "Well my little man, how are we today?" What are we doing? Are you a fireman or an Indian at the moment? That's the lad. Be great while you can. It never hurts to play at being somebody."

All of which registers in Andy's mind as just another queer thing about grownups. They don't know that you are a REAL Indian or a REAL fireman; they just don't know anything at all. Andy may stare at Mr. Pompous next time without speaking. Or ride the other way.

Mrs. Gush meets Andy next "Oh you dear child, I am so glad you came along. I have something so very, very nice for you. A complete surprise. I do so want to be friends. Won't you be my little friend? Here. It is a candy bar that I've been saving. Now what do you say to that? Wasn't I nice to save you a candy bar?"

Actually Mrs. Gush is a good soul. She loves little people and is almost pitifully anxious to please them. But she does not know the way to talk to her small neighbors. Andy takes the candy bar, mumbles a "Thanks" — perhaps— and takes a bite. He trundles off with his loot, but would rather not be gushed over any more. Ladies are too fussy.

But we have not quite come to the "talker-down" yet. This is the way it goes. Voice strained and usually high and a little false. Words like "big manses" and "dreat big boy" and everything "booful." It just won't go over at all. Such people take the pride out of a person.

I have the utmost sympathy for the great heart that tries so eagerly to reach the child and make friends. I am not making fun of anyone.

The truth is that most people without much experience with children, do not know how to go about it, that is all. They do the best they can and usually feel as uncomfortable as the child himself; even more so, because youngsters like small Andy won't help them much with their cues.

Some Have Knack

Some people have a knack; Miss Typer, for example. She is not married and she has never worked with children, but instinctively she has what it takes, when it comes to making friends with the youngsters. She says, "Hello there, Andy. What have you been doing with yourself? What's that to your wagon? Looks like a train to me."

"Yes, I'm giving it a ride."

"That's good. Trains must get tired hauling people around and never getting a lift themselves. I guess it's glad it is YOUR train and not somebody else's train. Well, I have to hurry. My mama might spank me, if I'm late for lunch." Andy gigles, for this is humor that he can understand Miss Typer touches the brass buttons on his coat and says, "So long, Colonel."

Andy runs to meet her every day. He knows when he is not being patronized, fussed over or talked down to. He has a lot of sense, and he likes other people to be sensible.

Don't Jump to Conclusion That 'Backache' Means 'Kidneys'

Commonest among all the complaints that disturb people past middle age is the condition commonly called lumbago and better understood by the simple name "backache."

Pains in the back do not all come, however, from disturbances in the muscles, ligaments, and other tissues of the spine. Physicians have discovered that sometimes pain in the back is the result of inflammation in the gallbladder, the stomach and the intestines, or in the organs commonly associated with childbirth.

From time to time operations have been performed on the organs in the abdomen with the hope that these would relieve backache. It is true, at the same time, however, that the great majority of pains low in the back are due to conditions affecting the joints between the bones of the spine and the pelvis.

Physicians know also that pains due to diseases of the gallbladder may sometimes be felt in the back in the region of the shoulders, and that pains in the diaphragm or at the base of the lungs may be noted at the tip of the shoulder.

Although the advertisements of an earlier day have convinced many people that disease of the kidney is responsible for pain in the back, the pain is actually felt, when there is kidney disease, under the last rib or in the front toward the groin.

Most common, as has been said, as the cause of backache is weakness of the joints between the back and the pelvis. This may result from strain or from relaxation, from sudden pulling, tearing or twisting as, for example, occurs when playing a game or cranking a car. There may also be infections which attack the tissues and produce permanent changes.

Occasionally the nerves of the spine may be involved in disease conditions or anatomical changes which in themselves may be responsible for the pain.

All of this leads to the conclusion that pain in the back may actually represent a variety of causes working singly or in combination; it is worth while to find out the specific cause, if that is possible, rather than to waste time, effort and money, and to be afflicted with suffering, during the trying of a dozen assorted remedies or methods of treatment.

For some reason, the right rear tire is the one more frequently punctured.

Grandeur of Ancient Rome Lives in France

THE aggressive Romans marched over the whole of ancient France, conquering, destroying, and building a new civilization at the same time. And physically they built well, for the patterns of this Roman influence live even today. Thus a tour of France is something like a visit to old Rome itself.

Particularly is this true in southern France. Here many of the finest examples of Roman building are still standing. Many of them are in a remarkable state of preservation and all are a source of vast importance to the archeologist. They include almost everything from temples to arches of triumph. Some of the gigantic stadiums are used even today.

In Nimes, for instance, the great egg-shaped arena is a major attraction. It is in a better state of preservation than those of Rome itself. Built of solid limestone blocks perfectly adjusted without use of mortar, it is two stories high. The upper is graced by slender Doric column and the traveler may still trace the holes used for awning poles in the days of Roman grandeur and the pagan circus.

Still another example of this art is the beautiful Triumphal Arch of Marius in the town of Orange. It is really three great arches, the middle one higher than the others, and flanked by stately Corinthian columns. Sculptured reliefs of ancient battles adorn its attic. In all France there is none quite like it. It is shown above on a new French stamp.

Saul Becomes A New Man
Text: Acts 9:1-12, 17-19
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

With this lesson we turn from studies in the life of Peter to consider the life and letters of Paul. Here we shall find the same Christian experience, taking root, developing, and bearing fruit in a very different personality and in a somewhat different environment. The differences between the two men only emphasize the power of Christianity to influence and determine the life and character of all sorts and conditions of men.

Peter was a fisherman. We do not know a great deal about his early training and background, but he was evidently a man of intelligence as well as a man of great forcefulness of character. He would undoubtedly have had the training in the Jewish schools which every Jewish boy had.

With Paul, however, the situation was probably somewhat different. He was a tentmaker, for it was a part of the Jewish religious and social principles that every boy should know a trade or be brought up to healthy and honest work.

But Paul had had advantages of schooling. He had sat at the feet of Gamaliel, a well known teacher, and as was the case with many Jews, following their occupations, his real interests were in the realm of intellect and morals. He had in him the elements of the scholar, and he was a thinker.

With this background it is not unusual that he should feel a deep intensity of religious conviction, and it was not surprising that he should resent the words and actions of those who in his judgment, were perverting the truth and tending to substitute new teachings for the law and the prophets.

Jesus, of course, had not represented His teachings as new. He spoke of Himself as fulfilling the law and the prophets. As we must always remember, Jesus was a Jew — a human and earthly product of Jewish life and Jewish religion, emphasizing in His example and in His teaching the great truths that had been committed to the chosen people, chosen because of their zeal in discovering and worshiping the true God.

But Paul did not see this until he himself had become a Christian convert. These Christians were innovators and destroyers of the truth, and Paul was furious in his opposition to them with all the intense zeal of a young enthusiast.

It happened to Paul, however, as it happened in the course of history to many who have set out to attack and destroy religious or philosophies with which they did not agree. He became a convert to the very thing that he was attacking, though it required a striking experience as he pursued his way of persecution, journeying from Jerusalem to Damascus, to open his eyes and to bring him to a realization of his true position.

This opening of his eyes came first of all in the seeking of a a great light which occasioned blindness, but when his sight was restored the light never left him.

Henceforth, his life was to be one of clarity and sincerity, never doubting the love of God as manifested in Christ Jesus, never questioning the supreme love and sacrifice of his Master, and never in any way hesitant about God's great purpose of redemption through the Gospel which it now became the supreme business of Paul to proclaim in work and in deed.

The lesson, taken in itself, would suggest that Paul's conversion was sudden and through a miraculous circumstance. It is more likely, however, that there had been going on in Paul's mind some questioning concerning his own course, and that the final act of conversion represented something that had begun when he had stood by, holding the garments of those who had stoned Stephen to death.

That incident must have left an indelible impression upon Paul's mind as he beheld this Christian calmly facing death and praying in his dying hour for those who stoned him.

Funeral Of Mrs. Prewitt Friday

Mrs. Lizzie Lindsey Prewitt the daughter of James and Josephine Lindsey, born February 6, 1881, in Benton county, near Avery, Mo., died March 29, at her home in Warsaw.

She was married to Everett H. Preuitt, February 12, 1899, and to this union three children were born, Lena and Lillian passed away at the age of seven years, and Everett Junior of the home survives.

She was united with the Avery Baptist church at 23 years of age.

Her entire life was spent in Benton county, the earlier part near Avery, Mo., moving to Warsaw in 1910, where she served as deputy county clerk four years and deputy county collector four years. In 1920 the family moved to Cole Camp and remained there until January, 1939, when they moved back to Warsaw, as Mr. Preuitt was elected county treasurer of Benton county.

She was a member of the Eastern Star No. 130, Cole Camp, and also a member of the Benton county Half-Century club, which she attended last May. She has been in failing health for the past five years, but always patient and kind, and interested in her home, family and church.

Besides her husband and son she leaves her aged mother, Mrs. Josephine Lopp of Oronogo, Mo., and three half sisters, Mrs. Linda Turpin and Mrs. Pearl Turpin of Oronogo, and Mrs. Millie Cunningham, Marshall. One brother, Ira Lindsey of Sedalia.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church Friday at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. C. R. Storer officiating, assisted by a quartet composed of Mrs. T. A. Reid, Mrs. G. S. Kirby, Lloyd Parsons and J. A. Atkins, who sang, "Nothing Between," "Life's Sinking Sun," and "God's Children Are Gathering Home."

Pall bearers were: M. M. Hammond, Olen Downs, Harrison Eaton and Wayne Ferguson of Warsaw, Albert Schwald, Cole Camp and A. P. Sands, Sedalia. Interment was in Memorial Park Cemetery, Sedalia.
